SHIPS SPEED FOR SHELTER ALONG COAST

Two Barges Sink Off New Jersey With Probable Loss of Eight Lives---Heaviest Storm In Recent Years Strikes Pacific Coast Area.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The entire north and central Atlantic seaboard was blanketed in snow today as the result of a storm which has swept from northeast Georgia to Maine on the wings of a heavy gale.

Two barges were sunk off New Jersey with a probable loss of eight lives and shipping scurried to shelter from all points along the coast before heavy seas and danger from high winds and thick weather. The Pacific coast also was lashed by one of the worst storms in recent years, which drove all shipping to shelter.

Ten Inch Snowfall.

Miners and business men of the Wyoming Valley, Penn., have been driven to the mine culm banks for fuel in the midst of the heavy snowfall. There was a ten inch snowfall, with drifts five feet deep in the anthracite region.

So severe was the combination of the driving snow and a near gale that all air mail service was suspended between New York and Chicago.

Snow was general throughout Maine and general storm area extended west to the Great Lakes. One death has been reported in New York City because of the storm.

In Florida relief work was carried on for the victims of yesterday's twister which killed one boy, injured fifty persons and did property damage of nearly $1,000,000.

The contest started Tuesday midnight and came to an abrupt end at 10:30 p. m., last night, when the manager of the ballroom declared the contest closed. Of the eighteen entries only three men remained. The judges gave Goica the decision because he finished more robustly and because his dancing was generally more "epileptic."

Goica's time surpassed the previous record made in Dallas, Tex., of seventeen hours and nineteen minutes.

The detailed report for Nebraska follows:

One of the more important items is the installation of a large automatic signal program on the lines west of Missouri river this year, working to a program so that within the next couple of years all main trackage on the Burlington railroad will be protected with automatic signals. BEGIN TRIAL OF ACCIDENT DRIVER

Three Witnesses Heard Thursday in Preliminary Hearing of Tom Baird.

Testify Auto On Wrong Side Of Street When Struck Mrs. Snow.

The preliminary hearing for Tom Baird, driver of the car which struck Mrs Florence Snow at Fourteenth and Belmont streets January 28, got under way Thursday morning in Municipal court.

Three witnesses were heard before Judge Chappell adjourned the court at noon. The hearing was to be continued at 2 p. m.

Baird is charged with reckless driving, speeding, and driving on the wrong side of the street. He pleaded not guilty to each charge. H. E. Johnson, who is alleged to have been Baird's companion when the accident occurred, is facing a charge of vagrancy, the complaints of reckless driving, speeding, and driving on the wrong side of the street having been dismissed against him.

Witnesses heard Thursday morning were agreed on the fact that the car which struck Mrs. Snow was on the wrong side of the street. The car was being driven south on Fourteenth street, and, according to the witnesses, was on the east side of the street.

Says Was Going Fast.

When Mrs. Snow was struck the car was traveling at about 40 miles an hour, according to John Spahn, proprietor of a grocery store near Fourteenth and Belmont streets. He declared that he was a witness to the accident

Rose Kubetzki, companion of Mrs. Snow when she was struck, testified that the car was being driven on the wrong side of the street. She jumped from the path of the car, she said, turning her ankle and falling in the street. She also affirmed that the car was traveling at about 40 miles an hour.

Besides Spahn and Miss Kubetzki, F. E Latham, who was in the Spahn grocery store at the time of the accident, testified. He said that he heard the car sound a warning. Miss Kubetzki declared that she heard no warning until Mrs. Snow was struck.

The car turned east and went into a ditch after the accident, according to witnesses. The two occupants, Baird and Johnson, went to the Spahn grocery store after the injured woman had been taken there, it was said.

Mrs. Snow was attended by Dr. W H. Slattery. She suffered a severe injury to her spine and is still confined to her bed.

QUIZ MAN IN DEATH BY FIRE

Seventy-Three-Year Old Sioux City Husband Questioned Following Finding Of Mate's Body In Furnace Of Their Home.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—George Solomon, 73, will be questioned minutely today regarding the finding of his 47-year-old wife's body, partly burned, in the furnace of their home here last night. Two of Solomon's sons, Maurice and Lawrence, found their mother's body, the face and shoulders charred, wedged in the furnace door.

They hurried to the basement to look for their mother when Solomon finally told them, after considerable evasion, that their mother had been fatally burned when the drafts of the furnace had been improperly adjusted and a spurt of flame came from the furnace as she was fixing the fire

The boys and the other seven children, younger than Maurice and Lawrence, had previously asked their father about the mother not being at home. He had told them that "mother is away visiting."

Just as Lawrence and Maurice were leaving the house for the evening, Solomon called them back, and told them he had withheld the news of the death of their mother. He then recited how she had met accidental death at the furnace door.

He did not explain, however, how her body was jammed in the mouth of the heating plant and the boys asked police to take him in custody for questioning

The children told police their mother and father had quarreled considerably lately.

Member Nebraska University Faculty Since 1891 Expires On Coast.

Headed Department Ancient Languages; Served On Athletic Board.

Dr. James Thomas Lees, prominent member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska for the past thirty-five years, died at Coronado, Cal., early Wednesday morning, according to a message received here Wednesday by Guy Chamberlain, son-in-law of Dr Lees, who is visiting in Lincoln at the home of Arnold C. Forbes. Dr. Lees had not been able to carry on his work continuously at the university since he suffered a nervous breakdown about four years ago.

"His passing," said Chancellor S. Avery Thursday, "leaves one less in the group of men and women who have been great university builders during the period of its greatest growth and activity. He came to the state just at the time when the great increase in population took place His career covers the state's period of development and its growing maturity In his passing the university loses from its councils one of a group who might be termed 'the elder statesmen'."

He became professor of Greek history and literature at the university in 1900, and was in the same year appointed examining dean. In 1907 he became head professor of Greek, and in 1919, under a reorganization instituted by the board of regents, was made chairman of the department of ancient languages and provost of the university.

He was a member of the athletic board for many years, serving as acting director of athletics until the advent of Mr. Luehring. He retired from that board about fifteen years ago, and more recently was chairman of the student publication board, as well as a number of other university boards.

PAIR CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Complaint Follows Capture Of Men Said to Have Stolen Coal.

Police Say Recent Thefts Cleared Up With Wednesday Night Arrests.

Charges of burglary were filed Thursday morning against Paul Gueiker, 20, 435 East Tenth street, College View, and C. Haskell, 37, 2036 South Eighth street.

The filing of complaints followed the capture of the two men Wednesday evening when they alleged to have stolen some small amounts of coal. Their arrest led to the solution of several robberies recently, and the charges indicated a theft from the Schwartz PaperCo.

The men were to be arrainged before Municipal Judge E. B. Chappell Thursday afternoon or Friday morning.

Thefts from the Schwartz Paper company, H. P. Lau company, Harpham Bros., and Stacy Bros. Scott Co., are said to have been admitted by Gueiker. Captain of Detectives Walter Anderson and Night Lieutenant Joe Rymer interviewed the men.

Gueiker, a former night watchman, obtained duplicate keys while he was working as a watchman, according to Captain Anderson, and failed to return them when he left the position.

Answering a call from the Stewart Coal company, Sixth and South streets, Officers Goodwin and Bridges arrested the two men.

Recover Merchandise.

Merchandise of all kinds was seized and taken to the police station by police who searched the rooms of Gueiker and Haskell. At the Eighth street address two sacks of potatoes, two leather vests, a traveling bag, canned goods, groceries, fountain pens and pencils were found, the officers asserted.

At the address given by Haskell, in College View, police discovered a Gladstone bag, some belts, a baseball, and books, all of which are thought to have been stolen.

The capture followed the placing of a "look-out" at the coal yards near Sixth and South, after numerous complaints of small coal thefts had been received. Officers watched the place for several nights.

The two men who are being held are believed to be the ones who were released by a night watchman recently when he found them in the Harpham Bros. warehouse, 512 P street They told them that they were only looking for a place to sleep and after consulting with a member of the firm, the watchman released the two.

Episcopalian Temperance Society Recommends Modification Of Volstead Act, Despite Pleas Of Several Prohibition Leaders.

POLL SHOWS A LARGE MAJORITY FOR CHANGE

Report Asserts Dry Law Increases Demand For Distilled Liquors, "Mostly Poisonous," and Brings Disrespect for "All Laws."

NEW YORK, Feb 4.—(By the Associated Press)—The church society of the Episcopal church, for fifty-one years a leader in the cause of prohibition, it is announced, favors modification of the Volstead act to legalize the sale of light wines and beer.

The announcement was made yesterday through the Rev. Di James Empringham, national secretary, former national vice president of the Anti-saloon league.

A poll of the 20,000 members of the society, Dr. Empringham said showed an overwhelming preponderance in favor of modification of the Volstead law

He said that his announcement was made public over the pleas of several prohibition leaders, who had asked that he suppress it lest it do irreparable damage to the cause of prohibition Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel to the Anti-saloon league of America, was among those who asked him to hold it up, he said

Wheeler Issues Denial.

Mr. Wheeler at Washington, has denied he telephoned Dr. Empringham on the matter, but has admitted he wrote to ask an opportunity to present figures showing the other side of the picture.

In a report made by Dr. Empringham to a closed meeting of Episcopal clergy at the Town Hall Monday, he said that his society was now in favor of modifying the Volstead act

"1. Because the effect of prohibition has been to put an end to scientific temperance teaching

"2. It has discouraged the consumption of wine and beer and increased the demand for distilled liquor which today are mostly poisonous

"3. It has resulted in increased drinking among young people.

"4. It has brought about disrespect for all laws.

"5. It is class legislation, discriminating in favor of the rich.

"6. In our survey we found intemperance increased.

BLAZE DAMAGES AN APARTMENT

Loss of $700 In Roof Fire at 1412 B Street Thursday Noon.

Damage estimated at $700 to the building and furniture was the result of a roof fire caused by a spark from a chimney at an apartment house owned by John Cooper, 1412 B street, shortly before noon Thursday

The roof of the apartment was badly damaged by the blaze. Furniture in the apartment occupied by Mrs. H. H. Bohlman, on the third floor, was damaged by water, according to firemen.

Apartments on the second and first floors, occupied by John Cooper and L. H. Smith, were not harmed.

Firemen answered five additional calls Thursday morning. Roof fires at the residences of N. Giarraffa, 700 South Eighteenth street, and William Doran, 710 North Twenty-fifth street, were extinguished before any great damage resulted. Both blazes were caused by sparks from flues, firemen stated.

At 324 South Ninth street, the residence of Charles L. Finley, a spark from a flue caused a fire which resulted in only slight damage. A flue burning out at the home of Roy Glenau, 1216 North Twenty-ninth, caused an alarm, but no property damage.

Firemen also made a run to Tiernan's garage at Lakeview at 9:45 a. m., where a short circuit in the wiring caused an alarm. No damage was reported.

SEAL ENTRY TO SUBDUE A MINE BLAZE

Little Chance of Rescuing Alive Sixteen Workers Entrapped By Blast At Horning, Pa.---Three Bodies Recovered and Two Men Escape.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Abandoning hope that any of the sixteen miners unaccounted for after an explosion in the Horning mine late yesterday were alive, rescue workers today sealed off the entry where they were entombed in order to smother a fire that has been raging for hours and make possible the recovery of the bodies.

Twenty-one men were at work in that section, two miles back in the pit, when the blast occurred. Two escaped alive and three bodies have been recovered.

Announcement that the entry had been walled off was made by C. E. Tuttle, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company, who, with other officials of the concern which owns the mine, remained at the scene throughout the night directing the efforts to reach those inside. The action, he said, was taken on orders of John I Pratt, state mine inspector

Hope to Smother Blaze.

It was indicated that the section would remain sealed for at least twenty-four hours, during which it was expected that the fire would go out for lack of air.

A check early today disclosed that Edward Travis and Lewis Powell were the only miners to come out alive. Ralph Holtzhouser, previously reported rescued, remained unaccounted for, officials said Others in the mine at the time of the blast included Howard M. Ernest, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Co mines, and George Travis, manager of the Horning mine, and brother of one of those who escaped.

Battled Against Flames.

PITTSBURGH, Pa, Feb. 4. — (By the Associated Press.)—Hope that the fifteen still unaccounted for following an explosion in the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Co. No. 4 mine at Horning, near here, were alive, was practically abandoned today by those engaged in the rescue work The bodies of three other miners were taken from a workings a number of hours after the blast, while three more escaped alive

Those trapped in the mine were fighting a fire at a point some two miles from the entrance when the explosion occurred, and this fire, still raging over a small section, was a handicap to rescue.

The dead were not identified. It is believed that the building caved in from the weight of snow on the roof.

The outer wall of the building fell onto East Maine street, piling up wreckage several feet high.

Firemen, policemen and volunteer workers tore at the heap as it was believed several bodies were underneath. The wall fell out just as employes at the office of the company were passing

State Replies to Prisoner's Request For Habeas Corpus

The state's return to John W. Barnhart's petition for habeas corpus has been prepared for filing by Assistant Attorney General Lloyd Dort. Barnhart is a penitentiary inmate serving a 1 to 20 year term for forging a deed and has been confined since 1919.

If any irregularity existed in the district court's sentence, it should have been brought up at the time of appeal to supreme court, Dort contends. That was not done and so, he argues, Barnhart has no cause of action now.

Judge Wheeler will hear arguments in the case Friday.

WOULD CONTINUE AS A GOVERNOR

Maryland Executive Turns Down Senate For Chance At Third Term.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Albert C. Ritchie would rather be governor of Maryland than a United States senator, Assured of the democratic nomination without opposition for the United States senate he announced his "hat is in the ring" for a third term in the executive mansion, in an address last night before the Eleventh Ward Democratic club.

Friends of the governor said he had made up his mind to enter the gubernatorial race again before the first of the year, but had postponed the public announcement because of his desire not to prolong the campaign unduly.

The decision was hailed as an "unprecedented political step" by the governor's associates, who point out that Governor Ritchie has served Maryland seven years to date—a greater length of time than any governor now in office in the country; that if he is re-elected he will be afforded a record of twelve consecutive years—longer than any governor of any state in the country's history; and that "it is one of the few times on record that a man deliberately chooses to be governor in preference to being senator."

Governor Ritchie is Maryland's first executive to serve more than one term Until 1923, when he was re-elected by an unprecedented majority, it had been an unbroken rule that no governor should be returned to the executive mansion.

The governor made it plain that his decision was due to sentiment, both state and personal.

George Jackson Urges People to Boost Nebraska

Secretary George Jackson of the state board of agriculture, in a statement today, urged Nebraska's rural and urban population to "get behind" the movement to "tell the story of Nebraska to the world."

Nebraska, said Mr. Jackson, is one of a very few states that raises a surplus of food.

"Its opportunities for service to humanity are second to none," he declared. "In evidence of this fact I will call attention to the production, consumption and surplus of Nebraska's 120,417 farms. Here we manufacutre 80 percent of our 236,000,000 bushels of corn into beef, pork, and mution."

The secretary prepared the figures for incorporation into his report which will be completed at the end of 1926 Following are some of the statistics presented by him on the production and consumption of the state's products:

Beef	produced	1,400,000,000 pounds;
	consumption	103,709,760 pounds;
	surplus	1,296,290,240 pounds which would feed Nebraska for 11 years
Hogs	produced	1,433,750,000 pounds;
	consumption	101,117,016 pounds;
	surplus	1,332,632,984 pounds.
Mutton	produced	39,050,000 pounds;
	consumption	8,628,418 pounds;
	surplus	30,421,582 pounds.

Egg production 1,086,487,560; consumption 226,865,100; surplus 859,622,460.

Sugar	production	210,000,000 pounds;
	consumption	129,637,000 pounds;
	surplus	80,363,000 pounds.
Milk	produced	2,111,440,000 pounds;
	consumption	155,564,640 pounds;
	surplus	1,955,875,360 pounds.
Flour	production	1,434,300,000 pounds;
	consumption	90,746,040 pounds;
	surplus	1,955,875,360 pounds.

"What we need in Nebraska," concluded Mr. Jackson "is a united boosting campaign, based upon facts that cannot be disputed. The air you breathe is filled with enthusiasm and inspiration to serve, where the people get more out of living by doing something for others than by compelling others to do something for them."

It was alleged that they stole a Buick coupe belonging to Mrs. C. E. McClasson and took it to Omaha, where Sprague was arrested. Boruff was taken into custody here after he had been implicated by Sprague.

Try to Establish Nebraska Site of Spanish Massacre

Investigation to determine the exact location in Nebraska of the massacre in 1720 of a Spanish expedition of some sixty soldiers and their Indian allies under the command of General Don Pedro de Villasur is being continued at Sevilla, Spain.

Professor A. B Thomas of the University of California, is at present continuing a search into Spanish archives there in an attempt to obtain additional evidence in support of his contention that the massacre of the Spanish party which marked the northermost point of Spanish influence in the eighteenth century occurred near the site of what is now North Platte.

Superintendent A. E. Sheldon of the Nebraska State Historical society has received a letter from Professor Thomas informing him that thorough search of ancient Spanish documents of the period is being made to obtain additional information on Spanish expeditions into the western Mississippi valley area.

Professor Thomas' opponent in the controversy surrounding the historical location of the massacre in Nebraska is the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Michael A. Shine of Plattsmouth, who by his deductions from records and additional information designates a spot near Columbus in the Loup valley as the site of the massacre in which Villasur and nearly every member of his expedition were slain by hostile Pawnee Indians.

The discovery of a number of ancient Spanish coins, bits of armor and other relics in this vicinity in recent years has supported the contention of Monsignor Shine. Recently an ancient Swedish coin minted in 1716 was unearthed near Monroe. The coin was believed to have been lost by a member of the Spanish expedition.

Curator E. E. Blackman of the historical society spent considerable time in the exploration of ancient Indian village sites near Columbus in 1924 and 1925. He reported the finding in the vicinity of several brass plates similar to those used in quilted armor of the period. Other finds at an ancient village site on Looking Glass creek in the past decade include bits of chain armor, and Spanish coins. Curator Blackman believes the massacre occurred near the village site on Looking Glass Creek

FORLORN RIVER

A Great New Novel by

ZANE GREY

Beginning in the February Home Journal—Now On Sale

His high-water mark for all time!

For thrilling action, lovable characters, and beautiful descriptions, Forlorn River goes far beyond anything he has ever written.

From the opening scene between Ben Ide, the wild horse hunter, and his pal Nevada at their lonely cabin on Forlorn River, to the closing thrills of the capture of California Red, the great wild stallion, and Nevada's terrible vengeance upon Ben's enemies, every word carries you out of yourself into a fascinating land of romance and daring.

You will search a long time before you find so lovely a girl as Ina Blaine, or one so steadfast to the man she loves. And few indeed are the scenes in literature so impressive as the description of the band of wild horses on their midnight visit to the ice caves far up in the desolate reaches of the lava country.

Discovering America In a Flivver

By Frederic F. Van de Water

Never having camped out before, never having been west of the Alleghanies by highway, knowing nothing of the mechanism of an automobile, Mr. Van de Water was ideally qualified to drive his wife and six-year-old boy 'cross continent in a flivver, camping all the way.

What he did and what he saw, how for the first time he got close enough to the country and its people to begin to really understand them, all his mishaps and little triumphs, make up a story that will bring a reminiscent thrill to everyone who has ever done any motor camping—and will fill those who haven't with a desire to do so at once.

Two Paintings and a Pastel

By James Abbott McNeill Whistler

These three examples of the work of the greatest and most individual artist ever born in America, will appeal to all through their delicacy, their simplicity, and their beautiful color.

The quality of these reproductions is truly remarkable. It seems as though the pastel would smudge if you passed your fingers over it, and the two oil paintings are almost absolute in their faithfulness.

Just A Taste Of What A Dollar Will Bring You In 1926!

We can't begin to tell you about all the good things that will appear in The Journal during 1926. There's just one way to make certain that you won't miss any of the splendid stories and articles, and that is to send the coupon below for a year's subscription.

Take the March Journal, for instance. In this issue begins an autobiography for which publishers have been clamoring for years—Maude Adams' own story of her wonderfully interesting stage career and personal life, quaintly and charmingly entitled "The One I Knew Least of All."

Side by side with the story of the original "Peter Pan" are the delightful reminiscences, in four installments, of Giulio Gatti-Casazza, impressario of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Personal and intimate memories of the great figures of opera from Verdi down to Geraldine Farrar and Jeritza brighten every page.

Sophie Kerr's seven-part serial "Nancy Davin" starts in the March issue, which also includes short stories by Ellis Parker Butler, Dorothy Black, Elsie Singmaster, and Emma-Lindsay Squier. Also a one-act play, "The Travelers," by Booth Tarkington.

MELVILLE DAVISSON POST

M. A. DeWolfe Howe's article on Booker T. Washington is most important and interesting, and Corra Harris has one of her own inimitable articles on the modern girl. In the College Morals Series Mr. Selden takes us behind the scenes at the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney has a most inspiring article in his "Life After Death" series.

Later in the year will appear Crosbie Garstin's new novel "West Wind"—you'll remember his "High Noon"—and Hugh MacNair Kahler's mystery novel of the swamp country of North Carolina, "Black Water." Then there will be Melville Davisson Post's "The Revolt of the Birds," a most colorful and imaginative novelette. Booth Tarkington will have several stories throughout the year. In addition there will be a host of novels, short stories, and articles by the best-known writers of the day.

And, of course, the splendid reproductions of great paintings in the famous American Painting series and all the other features which have done so much to win for The Journal more readers than any other woman's magazine can claim.

With such a feast to enjoy, you just can't take a chance of missing anything—a dollar bill and this coupon will bring you all this and more!

CHAPTER 49.

Miss Kate Hay was disappointed that evening when she found that James was going out to dinner.

He entered the house as she returned from the tea. At the same instant the telephone rang and he answered it.

"It is for me," he explained to his aunt when she lingered to ascertain if the call was for her

She went on to her room. A few minutes later he appeared on her threshold.

"That call was from Mrs. Fitzgerald," he informed her. "She wants me to come to dinner and, as she says, 'hear all about the tea.' I would really rather stay here anad have you tell me about it. You would probably give me a more unbiased account."

"I will tell you about it now," she said. But he shook his head.

"I am sorry, but I cannot stop. I must run upstairs and dress if I am to get to my future father-in-law's in time. I will see you on my way out So long!"

"Everything went off nicely. Jim, and the ring was lovely!" she called after him.

She was not sure that he heard her. He was already at the head of the stairs leading to his room

She was sorry not to have the opportunity of relating to him all all the nice things that had been said about him. Perhaps he might not be as interested in hearing them as she had been. He was in love, yet he did not seem especially elated at the opportunity to dine with his betrothed. Well, as she had told herself several times this afternoon, young people were different now from what they had been when she was a girl.

She, herself, had been in love once. Years and years ago Yet now as she looked out of the window toward the glowing Western sky she remembered another May, over thirty years ago, when she had stood gazing at the sunset while the boy whom she had known since childhood told her that he loved her

They had never been regularly engaged. He had not lived long enough for that. Only her brother, whose intimate friend her lover was, knew of her brief joy and her lasting sorrow. Her brother had never forgotten. Perhaps that was one reason he had been so dear to her. And Jack was just like him.

Well, when she loved she had not been like Alice Fitzgerald Blushes and perturbations and shynesses belonged to a former generation.

That was why Jim did not appear ecstatic at the chance of seeing his beloved an hour or two earlier than he would have seen her had he not been invited to dine at her home. That, too, was why Alice did not show the conventional evidence of the affection that must be burning in her heart for Jim.

With a little sigh of regret, Miss Hay, spinster, took off her hat and made herself ready for dinner

James stopped in the dining room on his way out for a word of greeting to his brother and of good-night to his Auntie. His manner was so gay as to be almost reckless Miss Kate smiled in sympathy with the exuberance of his spirits.

"You look mighty nice in your dinner coat," she delared. "I suppose it is worn tonight in honor of the announcement of the engagement."

"I suppose it is," he admitted Mrs Fitzgerald told me that a couple of Alice's friends were staying after the tea for dinner By the way, Jack, she said she would be glad to have you accompany me, but I told her you were not in and would probably arrive too late to jump into dress clothes. I declare, old man, I forgot the message until this moment! I am sorry!"

"That is all right," the brother replied "I did not reach home until five minutes ago, so could not possibly have gone. Make my apologies to Mrs. Fitzgerald, please, and thank her for her invitation."

"I will. Good-night, Auntie. I am glad you enoyed the tea'

"I did! she affirmed "And, oh, Jim, the ring is lovely"

"You like it, do you?" he asked with feigned lightness, starting toward the door.

"Yes, indeed! It quite took my breath away. So did some of the nice things that were said. Oh, Jim—wait just a moment" as he reached the threshold. "I must tell you, before I forget it, what Alice's father said. He said that since his child was going to marry, he was thankful she had chosen one of you boys, and that, although he did not know you as well as he knows John, he hopes to know you better soon, and to find you are like your father and like Jack Wasn't that a lovely compliment to all three of my dear men?"

"It certainly was a compliment to Dad and to Jack," James sneered. "As to me it would seem that if I can manage to be like my brother my fiancee's father will approve of me."

"Oh—Jim, dear!" Miss Hay began, but John broke in abruptly.

"Don't be a fool, Jim! I am sorry my name was dragged in at all. It would not have been if it did not happen to be my father's name also. I might be the veriest rascal in the world for all that Mr Fitzgerald knows I might be a forger, a bootlegger and a liar—and he might still consider me admirable because I am named for the man he liked and respected. That's what's in a name!"

James had not moved during this harangue. He stood, staring fixedly at his brother, for some seconds before repying Then he spoke as with difficulty.

"I get your point—and understand your generosity, Jack. Perhaps I am supersensitive."

"You are," John affirmed "You often fancy things are meant as a slight or slur when they are not. We who know you think so well of you that we hate to have you belittle your own excellencies."

The words were said with an affectionate smile. The young man's face cleared and the strange look left his eyes. It had been almost like a hunted look. John reflected What was the matter with the lad?

"The ring was gorgeous, Jack," Miss Kate commented as the front door closed behind the lover. "But, dear, it must have cost an awful amount. I never saw a more superb engagement ring. Jim must have more money than I ever thought he had"

But John seemed not to hear her

ANSWERS CRITICS OF SUNDAY FAIR

Says Duty to Provide Place Of Worship For Opening Day Crowds.

Secretary George Jackson of the state fair board, issued a statement today replying to criticisms contained in a resolution passed recently by a Methodist church conference at Omaha, urging that the Nebraska state fair open its doors on a day other than Sunday.

"It might be well," he declared, "to eliminate all petty jealousy and take a broader view of our religious work, and show Nebraska citizens that the ministers and church going people of Lincoln are standing behind the state fair board in putting on a Sunday program that will inspire the young people as well as the old."

The senator pointed out that the Nebraska board has "very little to do" with fixing the date of the state fair

"We belong to a circuit of fairs, consisting of the states of Illinois, Iowa and the Dakotas" he explained. "The dates are fixed at the annual meeting held in Chicago in December.

"We have three train loads of stock and other exhibits which arrive here from the Iowa state fair on Sunday Likewise, other stock and attractions arrive on that date. So the gates must be kept open.

"It is unavoidable and if the gates were thrown open with no charge or police protection, every roughneck within 100 miles would be in there."

Mr Jackson said with reference to Lincoln church people that they have a responsibility that can only be discharged by helping to provide a place of worship for the 20,000 persons that attend the Sunday opening of the fair

"We as an organization," concluded Mr Jackson, "have never asked the churches to close on Sunday. We urge them only to widen their operations and help us provide a place for our 3,000 boys and girls that are on the grounds to attend Sabbath school and church I will be pleased to meet with the ministerial associations of the state at any time"

Carnival Staged By Negro Civic League

The carnival will continue through Friday night.

Hear Dean M'Proud On "Willed Peace"

Dean B. E. McProud, dean of the Teachers' college at Nebraska Wesleyan, addressed the student's Wednesday upon the subject of "Willed Peace and Willed Power."

"Ultimate world peace is a mere hope as long as the world is organized upon the wills about us" the dean stated. "According to Dr. Moore, there are two fundamental causes of war—the limitation upon the will to live, and the threat of death"

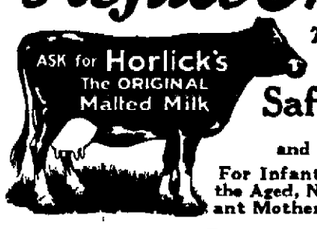

"In the development of world peace," the speaker continued, "what is to be our method" The fundamental causes are psychic, are internal, hence, we must look within for the cure. What the world needs is a universal effort to reconstruct the world mind on the basis of the will to understand, to agree, and to co-operate, rather than on the will to win"

"My proposition," Dean McProud concluded, "is that if world peace is to become a reality, it can come only after the world has been reorganized upon the basis of the will to understand, to agree, and to co operate"

Radio listeners in the vicinity of the station have complained that its immense power was blanketing the reception of radio programs from all other points.

Hoover's Opportunity.
Ford and Rockefellers.
The Heaviest Baby Lamb.
"Hush" in the Schools.

By Arthur Brisbane.

Secretary Hoover proposes a system of inland waterways, totaling 10,000 miles in length. If he puts that p an through, and makes the canals real, with real water, he will have rendered a service to this country equal to Roosevelt's digging of the Panama canal, even greater, for the flying machine has diminished the canal's importance.

To keep and use for navigation, irrigation and power the waters that now rush, wasted to the ocean, flooding vast districts, carrying rich soil out to sea, is a task worthy of the greatest ability and patriotism.

Secretary Hoover is said to have great influence with the president. Between them, if they choose, they can have their names "writ in water" in a way that will outlast stone or bronze

You are informed that Britain, at the League of Nations navy conference, means to regain her job as mistress of the world's oceans and seas The 5-5-3 batt eship ratio, arranged at Washington, when this silly nation's sillier "statesmen" consented to scrap our new and half finished battleships, was a makeshift, to hold us back, while Britain regained her financial breath

Britain has real statesmen, give them time, and they will get for Britannia what she wants. However she is welcome to the big float-f eet, to protect her commercial navy

What we need, is command of the air ocean. We shall never get it from our army and navy gentlemen, whose ideas fly no higher than a roller-top desk. But, commercial flying machines that interest the Fords and the Rockefellers, and that Henry Ford is building, can be transformed into effective fighting airships in three hours

And, fortunately, the Rockefeller and Ford families, which happen to be among the most public-spirited, as well as the richest in America, have power to solve the flying problem for America, without Uncle Sam's help They could do for Uncle Sam, on a 10 times greater scale, what Jacques Couer did for the old French king May they not be repaid as Jacques Couer was repaid, by his ungrateful soverign

Once flying really starts in America, it will develop as rapidly as did the automobile.

The heaviest new-born lamb on record arrives on the farm of Robert Magee, in Michigan, weighing 14 pounds.

The new-born cub of a 500-pound bear weighs only a few ounces and the mother is usually sound asleep, in late winter, when her baby is born

Why should nature inflict on delicate human mothers, infants weighing 12 pounds and more? An Italian doctor believes that the right diet for the mother would make the new baby much lighter and stronger, and child-birth much easier

The fattest, heaviest baby is not necessarily the best

The faculty of Ohio's State university is not guilty of teaching communism, or other "red radicalism" to tender undergratuate minds Investigation proves it, very comforting to those that see things behind them on the stairs, and believe you can kill an idea, good or bad, by saying nothing about it.

There is no danger in communistic talk here, where there is enough for those willing and able to work Anyhow communism would not work or last anywhere, while human beings retain selfishness as their mental mainspring.

College professors, underpaid in cash gratitude and honor, would have the best excuse for favoring communism It would be sensible to let them tell classes about the communistic idea, and all other ideas, from Zoroaster and Gautama to Ghendi and Mary Baker Eddy, on the "prove all things, hold fast that which is good" idea

Keeping boys in ignorance of any world achievement, right or wrong, forbidding them to do their own thinking, is not the way to make efficient citizens.

One solemn Chicago editor, thinking swiftly backward, says "an elementary school room is not a forum for the discussion of problems that puzzle fully developed intellects" Why not? And where does the editor find his array of "fully devolped intellects?" Does he mean adult minds? They are 99 times in 100 so many units of well set mental concrete, upon which a new idea makes as much impression as a rubber tire on a concrete highway

Any idea that does not enter the brain in youth never enters From the age of 20, to the grave, 99 per cent of us are controled by ideas absorbed in childhood, and few ever get rid of errors and superstitions thoroughly fixed, before the age of 7. Ask religious teachers about that

"We are all murderers at heart," says Clarence Darrow, the murderer's ablest defender, as he attacks capital punishment Zola said that each man "had in himself a hog asleep" Darrow adds the tiger to the hog

Evolution, calling attention to your prenatal, polymorphic transformation, tells you that a whole procession of animal ancestors are locked up in you, from the salamander, which contributed your five toes and fingers, and the mudfish that gave you lungs, to unpopular pithecanthropos, the ape-man whose skeleton is the same as your own—go to the museum and count, bone for bone.

Our job, as we carve civilization out of inferior raw material, is to conquer and dominate our entire inherited menagerie. Zola's hog, Darrow's tiger, the fox, hyena, snake, and all the rest We have them all

RIVER MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

Hoyle Admits He Ran Car Into Stream Near Barneston.

BEATRICE, Neb., Feb 4.—(AP)—Investigation into the supposed Blue river murder mystery ended when Arthur Hoyle, whose automobile was recovered from the stream, together with evidence which pointed toward foul play, conferred with Sheriff John R. Salling and agreed to reimburse the county for expenses incurred in dragging the stream

Hoyle walked into Wymore one night and declared two strangers whom he was giving a ride, had clubbed him with a gun, thrown him out of his car and sped away. The next day a car was found to have plunged through a hole in the ice left by ice cutters north of Barneston. Recovered from sixteen feet of water, the car was identified by Hoyle as his auto. Discovery of a girl's foot prints and those of a man in the snow on the river bank, and of a lock of human hair and a girl's glove and handkerchief, suggested foul play However, crews dragging the river found no body

"I have not asked the boy for a formal confession, said the sheriff. "I dont know how the lad faked the clues indicating a girl's possible murder He is not asking for insurance on the car, and has not received any insurance This means no charge can be filed against him I am giving him back his car. It will cost him about $60 to pay costs of dragging the river and other items, together with fixing up his car This is the price of his foolishness"

Claim Physician State Employing Is Not Licensed

A man who holds no license in this state entitling him to practice medicine is on the payroll of the state of Nebraska as assistant physician at the Hastings insane hospital, according to the allegation of a complaint filed with the board of control The occcupant of this position, Ludolf Bollmeier, was appointed about a year ago The board has taken no action on the complaint, and Bollmeier is still serving in the absence of the institution superintendet, Dr W S. Fast, who recently left on a trip to California and Honolulu

The American medical society, a national organization of physicians and surgeons, sposors the complaint against Bollmeier and calls attention to the fact that a license heformerly held in the state of Connecticut was cancelled in 1923, a few months after he had obtained it

Bollmeier is reported to have been a student at a medical college in St Louis where diplomas were given after a short course of study In omst medical colleges four years' work is required before one may graduate and receive a certificate as to his professional qualifications, and the laws of Nebraska require such training for licensces The American medical society has been making a country-wide fight on persons holding credentials from the St Louis institution

State Welfare Secretary Frost is waiting on the board of control to do something in Bollmeier's case

SENATE ADOPTS SURTAX SLASH

Reductions Accepted After Futile Efforts to Secure Higher Rate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Sharp reductions in the income surtax rates, including a slash in the maximum surtax rates from 40 to 20 per cent, were voted Wednesday by the senate in accepting the scedule written into the tax reduction bill by its finance committee.

The total tax reduction thus voted was estimated at $122,000,000 for this year, the committee having increased the total over that approved by the house to the extent of $22,000,000 by providing for greater reductions on incomes between $27,000 and $100,000, where the maximum would take effect.

Party lines faded as determined efforts were made by members of both parties to increase the maximum rate first to 40 per cent, then to 30 per cent and finally to 25 per cent The last proposal, offered both by Senators Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, and King, democrat, Utah, was rejected, after a vigorous debate, 55 to 25.

Both democrats and republicans favored the increase, pointing out that they had favored a maximum of 40 per cent two years ago against the recommendation of Secretary Mellon for 25 per cent.

Senators Harrison of Mississippi, and Simmons of North Carolina, democratic members of the finance committee, replied that they had agreed to the maximum rate of 20 per cent as overwhelmingly approved by the house, in return for the $23,000 000 additional reduction

The 25 per cent maximum rate, as proposed, would have applied on incomes over $500,000.

An amendment by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, proposing to make the maximum rate 30 per cent and applicable on incomes of $1,000,000 and over was defeated 54 to 29 A proposal by Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, to keep the present 40 per cent maximum rate applying on incomes of $500,000 and over and to make further reductions on the incomes up to $60,000 was rejected, 70 to 15

Drive for Peace Chimes at Capital Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—(AP)—A drive will be started soon to raise $2,500,000 for a 350 national peace carillon tower with fifty-four bells to be erected on a site in Washington yet to be chosen

A local committee has been organized and the National Carillon society, incorporated here, already has under consideration a design for "a magnificent tower" by Paul P Gret architect of the Pan-American building here and the memorial arch at Valley Forge, Pa

The tower would stand as a "great national memorial in commemoration of the sacrifices and ideals of America in the World war," and the bells would be played at weekly concerts and on all great state occasions.

The project has been endorsed by the General Federation of Women's clubs, which will help set up state organizations to handle contributions

FLARE-UP OVER FOREIGN DEBTS

Smoot Denies Charge By Howell Terms Virtually Cancel Obligations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—A heated debate over the foreign debt settlements flared up in the senate Wednesday during discussion of the tax bill when Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, charged that the agreements amounted virtually to cancellation of the war obligations.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, a member of the American debt commission, retorted that in every case the agreements specifically provided for both principal and interest payments and that the amounts to be paid had been determined on a basis of each nation's ability to pay

Senator Howell contended that computing interests on the foreign debts at the rate this government is paying on its bonds, the interest on the British debt during the first year under the funding agreement should be more than $200,000,000, yet its actual payment in both interest and principal was fixed at $150,000,000 for the period

The accuracy of his figures based on the higher interest rate was challenged by Mr Smoot, who asserted that "if the senator would use a 6 per cent interest rate, he could make the matter look much worse" and that "if he computed it on that basis, he could make it appear that we are actually giving these countries a lot of money"

The Nebraska senator also charged that the debt commission did not follow the principle of funding debts on the ability of nations to pay, asserting that Poland had been given virtually the same terms that were accorded Great Britain. This also was denied by Senator Smoot, who said that Poland was given much more liberal terms on first payments

Decide Inquest Unnecessary In Student's Death

That Martha Cameron, 22-year old student at Peru Normal, committed suicide by inhaling gas fumes, was the decision of county authorities who investigated her death at Melick court, Thirteenth and K streets, Wednesday.

There will be no inquest into the death, Deputy Sheriff Charles Hughart stated Thursday

Miss Cameron was found dead Wednesday noon by tenants who broke down a door of her apartment after smelling gas fumes. Five burners on the gas stove were found left open, with the fumes still escaping. No motive has been assigned for the deed

MOORE URGES COOPERATION

Chicago Minister Speaks at "Better Understanding" Services Wednesday.

Representatives of three religions pleaded for tolerance, for co-operation, and for a more profound sympathy with other faiths and other races at the "better understanding" day services held Wednesday evening in the Jewish temple at Twentieth and South streets.

The principal address was made by Rev. Fred Atkins Moore, of Chicago, who is in charge of the western headquarters of the committee on Better understanding of the Federal Council of Churches.

Meetings of the nature of the one held Wednesday evening come only too infrequently, he said. Such meetings should be held in all places of religion often enough to promote a thorough understanding of each faith and a respect for it. This need not mean giving up the social group of one's church affiliation, he said, but should mean a broader viewpoint.

He deplored and condemned conditions and organizations which make for vicious intolerance, and create hatred He told of having in his Chicago pulpit representatives of several religions and several races, It was impossible to tell from newspaper pictures hat the faith of these men was, he declared, in illustrating the close relationship He urged a closer co-operation between congregations.

The meeting was opened by Rabbi S. E Starrels, who turned it over to Rabbi H E Eisenberg. He introduced Rev Raphael Quinn, who gave the invocation

Rabbi Eisenberg declared that he was thankful for such an occasion when representatives of different religions should meet "motivated by the common purpose of how best to serve America, and still remain true to their faiths"

Much of the bigotry comes from two sources, he said The first is ignorance on the part of the Jew and gentile of the parts that their religions have taken in the course of civilization The second comes from the fact that Christianity has gotten away from the ideals of Jesus, and has become "a religion 'about' Jesus, and not 'of' Jesus which teaches love and brotherhood."

The meeting was thrown open for questions and discussion at the conclusion of Reverend Moores address, but there was no comment from the audience The auditorium was filled.

A vocal solo by Vera A. Upton, accompanied by Mrs Edith Ross at the organ, preceded the address.

There was no application filed for the post and she will continue to act until a successor is chosen. Mrs. Kroger offered no reason for tendering her resignation, other than that she desired to enter other fields of activity. She urged the organization to widen its scope of activities, particularly along development of industries in the city and bringing about more favorable freight rate regulations.

When she became affiliated with the local chamber the membership stood at 125, with a debt of $6,000. The membership at present is 325 and the only deficit existing was carried over from last year, $1,500 still due on a paving venture.

Hasn't Had One Sign of Trouble Since Taking Karnak Two Years Ago

A. T. Lane, Prominent Wichita Real Estate Man, Says It Takes A Real Medicine To Bring The Lasting Results Karnak Does.

A. T. Lane

One of the most extraordinary features about Karnak, and the remarkable results it is accomplishing throughout this section, is the way people continue to keep hale and hearty after being restored to health by the sensational medicine.

This fact is being attested to by scores of prominent citizens who were among the first to take Karnak and derive its amazing benefits, and clearly demonstrates the outstanding superiority of Karnak over ordinary medicines that bring relief only while you are taking them.

Now comes A. T. Lane, prominent Wichita real estate man, with offices at 207 Bissant Bldg., and residing at 1156 N. Topeka Ave., and states that although it was about two years ago that Karnak fixed him up, he is still enjoying the very best of health.

"Yes sir, I was among the first in Wichita to take Karnak about two years ago, and it was so remarkable how the medicine restored my health that I gave a statement at the time telling all about it," declares Mr. Lane.

"And now I am even more grateful for Karnak than ever, for the good health it gave me has been permanent and not just a mere passing relief. And I tell you, that's saying a whole lot for Karnak, too, for my case was one of chornic stomach trouble that had defied all other treatment for two years and which had me in such a weakened, nervous condition I had about given up hope of ever being well again.

"But when I got Karnak it made short work of my troubles and put me in the very best of condition, and that's the way I've been ever since. I tell you it takes a real medicine to give the lasting results that Karnak does. There's not another like it, that's all there is to it."

Karnak is sold in Lincoln exclusively by the Harley Drug Co., in Havelock by the Baker Drug Store, and by leading druggists in every town.—Advertisement.

New Drive On For Funds to Buy Jefferson Mansion For Memorial

The Jefferson home, "Monticello," his grave, and a contemporary portrait of him.

RICHMOND, Va.—The Thomas Jefferson home at Monticello, Va., long a mecca for persons who believe that next to Washington, Jefferson was the greatest man of Revolutionary times probably will soon be a national shrine, with provisions for its maintenance in perpetuity.

In the period between February 12, birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, and February 22, natal date of George Washington, the national Jefferson centennial committee is making a special drive for funds to purchase the Jefferson home from its present owner, Jeffresoy Levy.

This year is the 100th anniversary of the death of the author of the Declaration of Independence and third president of the nited States, and the committee hopes to be able to dedicate the home before December 31, if its plans go through.

The home place is still substantially in its original condition, although extensive repairs have had to be made from time to time. It contains many of the intimate relics of the founder of the democratic party.

Other buildings on the place, which would be included in the purchase, are Jefferson's "honeymoon lodge" and his law office. The place contains 640 acres of rich Virginia soil, and much of it could be cultivated to help defray the upkeep of the place.

It is estimated that $500,000 will be required to make the purchase and open it as a shrine. Another $500,000 is being sought as an endowment.

Mrs. Charles Hoss received the ladies' consolation favor of a hand painted glass bud vase, and Dr. Stanley Clements was awarded the men's consolation favor of a grass ash tray.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF FEBRUARY BRIDE.

Miss Clara Johnston was honored at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. C Luckey, Fortieth and Holdrege streets, for which Mrs. Luckey, Mrs. Kaho Dailey and Mrs. George Mann were hostesses. Games were played during the evening, and a special feature was the fortune hunt, when the girls hunted hearts bearing fortunes, which were hidden throughout the house. The fortune for the bride-to-be was larger than the others, and she was told to follow the string attached to it which led to her gifts. Late in the evening ice cream and cake were served. The brick ice cream was white with a red heart in the center, and was cut at the serving table by Mrs. Will Johnston, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. H C. Luckey. Mrs. Ralph Boomer and Mrs. Marceline Logden assisted in the serving. During the evening Miss Sylvia Cole sang a group of songs and Miss Florence Hilton gave some piano selections.

The afternoon hours were spent informally.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF ENDEAVOR SOCIETY

The Christian Endeavor society of Westminster Presbyterian church held its annual banquet Wednesday evening at the church in celebration of the forty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Endeavor movement by Dr. Francis E. Clark.

The rainbow was chosen for the theme of the occasion, the tables being arranged in the form of a rainbow and the decorations carrying out the spectral color scheme. Each light was surrounded by shredded crepe of rainbow colors and the table decorations of tall candles and bouquets varied from red to violet.

The toast list, also, was made up of the primary colors. Miss Alice E. Hussong was toast mistress and introduced the following persons who responded with toasts:

"Green" (Tradition) Anna Deffenbaugh-Stowell.

"Purple" (Aspiration) Charles Hoff.

"Orange" (Kindred) Melva Scudder

"Blue" (Skyline) Carroll Coffman.

"Red" (Service) Ruth J. Easterday.

Miss Miriam H. Little, accompanied by Dr. Marjorie E. Little, played two 'cello solos, "London berry Air" arranged by Kreisler, and "Serenade Espagnole" by Glazounow.

The toast by Charles Hoff was unique in its presentation. The toastmistress explained that he was unable to be present but he would broadcast his speech by radio for this special occasion. A loud speaker was set upon the table and the president tuned in on the address.

Alice Hussong was general chairman of the banquet committee, Emily Blanchard in charge of the decorations and Richard Blore handled the ticket sales Forty-five persons were seated at the tables and among them were several alumni endeavorers.

MRS. MEADE TURLEY HONOREE AT SHOWER.

A motif of pink roses was introduced in all of the rooms with baskets of pink roses. The serving table was centered with pink and white and under a pink and white heart-shaped arch stood a miniature bride. Gold and white bride's slippers were also used for decorations on the serving table. During the afternoon Mrs. A. W. Nelsen sang a group of songs.

Gray Hair Is Easily Darkened

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchaman County, Ia., following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.—Advertisement.

SOME PLAIN TALK.

Former Governor S. R. McKelvie in addressing the farmers attending Farm and Home week at Ames, Ia., Thursday indulged in some plain talk.

If there is any one section in the agricultural belt where dissatisfaction and discontent with farm conditions are felt and expressed, it has been in Iowa. Acute conditions said to exist in Nebraska's neighboring commonwealth provided the inspiration for the recent gathering in Des Moines of representatives of most of the cornbelt states. Most of the drive and impetus in behalf of the program looking toward the creation of a governmental agency for the marketing of surplus farm crops originated in Iowa. Numerous bank failures and drastic, sharp reductions in land values have served to accentuate a condition which confronted most of the farming states in the closing months of 1921 and the early part of 1922, and through which most of them, particularly Nebraska, emerged safely and soundly. Iowa is now taking the medicine which they took three and four years ago. Nebraska and some of the other states in this central west have passed through this period of distress and suffering and in the last two years have been enjoying a period of prosperous development.

At least a portion of those Iowa farmers who listened to the former governor of this state probably wanted words of sympathy and commiseration. If they did they may have been disappointed. But what they did hear were words of strong encouragement of far greater value. Mr. McKelvie spoke truthfully and honestly with reference to the agricultural situation in its general aspects.

When he said that chickens had come home to roost and the farmers' hard luck story had been so well told there had been a decided reaction in the public markets against farm securities he was drawing a conclusion well established by economic fact. No business can tell the world that it is broke and still expect a favorable hearing of its requests for financial assistance. No industry can persistently and consistently maintain that it is unable to operate successfully and prosperously under present-day conditions and expect its field to be looked upon as a promising source of investment. To insist that agriculture is facing impending bankruptcy and in the same breath to expect capital to look upon it as a field of investment is so ridiculously contrary to every established principle of economics in business and industry that a schoolboy should have no difficulty in understanding it.

We believe ex-Governor McKelvie drew a somewhat unwarranted conclusion from the action of the Federal Farm Land Bank board in ruling that farms secured through foreclosure shall be charged off at the rate of 20 percent a year. That ruling is intended to control dividend payments by these banking institutions. The Farm Land bank is a quasi-governmental agency. While the government does not guarantee the stock which has been sold in the institution, it does recognize it has been responsible for its creation. It feels that its good faith is in a measure pledged to it. All that it is seeking to do in providing for a chargeoff of 20 per cent a year in the valuation of these farms which have been taken over is to prevent the payment of dividends upon the basis of values which may not exist. It is the same rule which any business and industry would apply and it does not affect future loan facilities which today recognize only present recognized land values. If continued through a period of 5 years, the rule would result in a maximum chargeoff of 100 percent, which of course would be equivalent to saying these lands have no value above the loan, a statement so out of reason it need not be considered.

Agriculture should be grateful to Mr. McKelvie, however, for pointing out the serious results of the farm agitation, which has not, however, originated with the real farmers of this country.

He is right in voicing his protest against the statement that agriculture is broke or that it is going to be broke. The farmers of Nebraska are not bankrupt. Except in isolated sections of the cornbelt conditions are satisfactory. Farmers on the whole have registered steady improvement in their financial condition. The former governor directs attention to one phase of the farm discussion which has in most instances escaped notice. He says no credit is given for the farm as a home. And yet it is a home. It is a better home than most of his city brethren are able to enjoy. It is a home which would cost him at least $1,000 in the city. His food, very largely raised upon the farm incidental to his main activities, provide him with a living better than his friends in the city are able to enjoy. And in the face of this most of the farmers are able to put a little something in the bank. Most of the farmers recognize their fortunate estate, their independence, their opportunities and they are not giving serious heed to the nostrums which the quack farm doctors are proposing.

BLIND TELEPHONE OPERATORS.

From Bloomingville, O., comes an unusual story of pleased telephone users who enthusiastically praise the service given by their local exchange. The plant is not a large one nor is it operated by a corps of highly trained workers, but nevertheless it is meeting the needs of the people in a manner which they find highly satisfactory. And the chief reason therefor is declared to be that a blind couple, man and wife, have charge of the switchboard.

It is generally conceded that blind people have unusually acute hearing, because they must depend on that sense alone. That one thing would seem to constitute a special qualification for the duties of a telephone "central". But there is another factor quite as important, if not more so. One lacking the faculty of vision does not have his or her attention easily diverted from the switchboard. So the business in hand—that of listening for calls and promptly answering them—gets prompt attention.

Here is a field of employment for the blind which might well receive the serious consideration of telephone managers everywhere. No one would suggest putting "central" service entirely in the hands of sightless persons, but a judicious sprinkling of them among switchboard employes would probably contribute to increased efficiency. It would be necessary, of course, in that case to employ different signals than lights flashing on and off in front of the operators.

In the Ohio town mentioned, the pair who run the central office have become remarkably keen in detecting sources and locations of trouble on the lines, besides being "johnny on the spot" in giving patrons the numbers they want. A lineman testifies that the blind man told him where to look for bad places after a severe storm which had interrupted service, and when he went out he found things out of order at those very places.

Telephony is by no means the only field where non-seeing men and women can make themselves fit in by reason of their highly developed sense of hearing. Some of the world's best musicians and composers have been blind. Piano tuning is an occupation which offers particular advantages to the sightless. It would seem as though people thus afflicted would also make first class radio operators and announcers.

Likewise, there are certain vocations in which the deaf should find ample opportunity to exercise their quickened faculty of sight. Edison declares that his deafness has been an advantage in laboratory work, because it shuts out the distracting noises of the world around him and made it possible to "hear himself think." People who do not hear or speak have open to them such activities as printing, painting and cartoon work. Some of them are succeeding as engineers, draftsmen, designers and architects. Also, there is the motion picture operator's trade.

In the modern world there is useful work for everyone possessing health and bodily vigor, even though he be handicapped by the loss of eyesight, hearing, or limbs.

AN UNFAIR TAX MEASURE.

Some very impressive figures were presented to the United States senate yesterday for its consideration in the debate upon the new tax bill.

Senator R. B. Howell of Nebraska revealed that treasury records show under the present provisions of the measure, taxpayers with incomes in excess of $100,000 a year, will receive a reduction of $120,000,000 while the remaining 7,293,000 taxpayers in the United States will receive but $96,000,000. The showing this is a "rich man's tax bill" can be made even stronger when the repeal of the federal inheritance tax is recalled. By far the major portion of relief under this action is conferred upon a very small group of very rich people. Less than 6,000 will benefit to the extent of $90,000,000 reduction annually. The repeal of the gift tax will grant further relief to this same class.

In all, 5,694 taxpayers will receive reductions aggregating $215,000,000, on considerably more than half of the total tax slash contemplated, while 7,293,000 taxpayers will benefit to the extent of $161,500,000.

This is the "scientific" tax program which has been so widely acclaimed in this country. It is so unjust, so unfair to the great mass of people in this country that it cannot hope to survive for any considerable period of time. America has held tenaciously to one fundamental theory of taxation through the years. She has believed that taxes should be based upon the ability to pay. The man of great wealth has paid more taxes because he could meet this burden with less sacrifice and less hardship than his less fortunate and less resourceful neighbor.

Even with the accumulated evidence which Mr. Mellon has brought forward to show wealth is being invested in taxfree securities and business and industry is suffering as a result, it is doubtful if America is prepared to kick her traditional theory of taxation overboard. In the first place Mr. Mellon's contentions find strong contradiction in the financial markets today. There is ample credit for all of the legitimate and proper business and industrial investments which can be found. Money has gone begging until recent weeks. Banks had more funds than they could loan. Interest rates were forced down. Credit has been reaching out to every venture which gave a reasonable hope of success. Mr. Mellon would not advocate ventures into hazardous and dangerous fields. The capital which he insists has been driven out of productive fields because of excessive taxation would not seek these sort of ventures because the men who accumulated this wealth are too far-sighted and too well grounded in business and industry to place their eggs in a cold nest.

The facts are that the present tax bill is a fearful injustice to the great mass of American citizens. It may pass this session of congress but some of its provisions will not become the permanent expression of the American people in the matter of taxation.

ONE OUT OF EIGHTY.

Clarence Darrow, Kathleen Norris, the novelist, Warden Lewis E. Lawes, of Sing Sing prison, and others associated with them, have opened their campaign in New York state to repeal the law providing for capital punishment for murder.

Mr. Darrow's argument may be dismissed without much consideration. It has long been the contention of the noted Chicago criminal lawyer that everybody is a potential murderer and the only reason he did not kill was that it was not his habit. Mr. Darrow believes society should remove the causes of bad habits which he thinks produce murders. Of course the argument is so fantastic that it cannot merit attention in the solution of a very practical and pressing problem. Murder and pillage cannot be permitted to run riot while the public is being educated to the standards of orderly and sane living. Vicious and depraved men cannot be permitted to slay while society is attaining this highly idealistic state. Mr. Darrow's efforts to abolish the deplorable practice of capital punishment go for naught because he has been engaged in defeating justice, represented by the life imprisonment of murderers. His latest contribution in this line was in the Loeb and Leopold case.

But Warden Lawes did hand the public a morsel to think about.

Only one murderer in eighty ever pays the extreme penalty for his crime, he declared. Waiving the moral considerations involved, it is the inability to impartially and fairly administer capital punishment which makes it a savage and unsatisfactory practice. Some juries shrink from the death penalty. Others are adamant. Some executives commute and pardon freely. Others are less sentimental. This human element in the administration of justice results in many shocking injustices. Some horrible crimes, richly deserving of the most severe punishment, go unpunished. Others, with extenuating circumstances, draw the extreme penalty. It rests upon the sympathies and humanities of juries and judges to say who say die and who shall live.

Unquestionably Warden Lawes is correct when he suggests life imprisonment, with never a chance for commutation or pardon except in the instance of newly-discovered evidence, as a substitute for capital punishment.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

IF YOU WERE WHAT YOU PRETEND TO BE WHAT WOULD BE THE RESULT?

Often you read a certain article where the picture drawn of individuals tallies closely with your own frailities and experiences. Perhaps you wonder how the secret facts about you were learned.

You know you have these faults but you would be chagrined if you thought your acquaintances sized you up and believed you to be thus.

Instead of making special effort to cure yourself of these faults your main efort has been to hide the acts and make a favorable impression.

You wanted to keep for friends, those whom you know would shun you if your real character became known to them, hence the sting of a general accusation when you apply the writer's story to your own life.

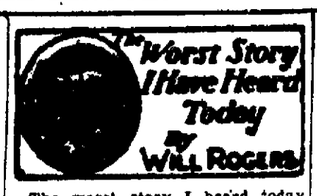

You begin to feel antagonistic to that writer.

Instead, why not resolve to master your weaknesses.

You know that many respect and honor you for what they think you are. What would their opinion be if they found out the truth?

Are you not disgusted because of living a lie?

You must realize that you would get much more out of life if you were what you pretend to be.

The worst story I heard today was told to me by W. R. Lubbock of Edinburg, Tex. The first time I ever met this Lubbock was in Bloemfontein, South Africa, in 1903. I was there with a wild west show, Texas Jack's, and Lubbock was selling agricultural machinery for some American concern. We afterwards run on to him in Johannesburg. I got a letter from him just now. He is down in this Edinburg, Tex. As soon as I find out where Edinburg is I'll drop him a line. I am to be in San Antonio pretty soon. I think it's up on the Rio Grande somewhere. I will be glad to get in old San Antone. That's a real cow town. Mr. Lubbock wouldn't have written me I don't believe but he had a story that he couldn't get anybody in West Texas to listen to, so he sent it to me.

There were two negroesses living in the same house, one upstairs and the other downstairs. Alana, who lived upstairs, on hearing a noise said, "Who dat?"

Cynthia, who lived downstairs, said, "Who dat say 'Who dat?'"

"Diana replied, "Who dat say 'who dat' when I say 'who dat?'"

A valued subscriber and a good friend came rushing into the Gazette office with Jim Reed's speech on the World court, all folded and ready for the editor to read. When the valued friend and old subscriber learned that the editor of the Gazette had read Jim Reed's speech and was unmoved, the comrade of many a battle stood aghast. And this is what he heard in reply:

"Jim Reed is a senator from Missouri. Divest him of his office and he becomes an ordinary criminal lawyer in a third rate American city; just that. What he said has been said and admitted by the friends of the World court. It is of common knowledge. Yet in spite of what he says a man like Elihu Root who stands at the head of the legal profession in the English speaking world is for the court. Charles E. Hughes, once governor of New York, formerly member of the supreme court of the United States, one time a candidate for the presidency on the republican ticket, six years secretary of state, thoroughly conversant with foreign and domestic affairs, is for the World court. So is Calvin Coolidge, who may not be so smart himself, but who has access to the best advice in the world. All that Jim Reed said against the World court, the enemies of the American constitution said against the United States supreme court in trying to defeat the constitution. Reed is merely a small man scared of his shadow. Big men are not afraid to go out into the deep and let down their nets."

MILK AND OTHER GAINING FOODS

The book buyer and head salesman of one of the big Boston bookstores, were very cadaverous looking—so thin it hurt one to look at 'em. One day they were telling me about the remarkable sale of my book on weight control, and I candidly told them they were darn poor models for the sale of any diet book. Both of them laughed and said they were naturally thin. They couldn't seem to gain. I advised them to each have a quart of milk delivered to them at the store, and between meals during the day, to do away with it; and still to eat fully as much at their meals as they had been eating. I was back there six months later. They had followed my advice and one had gained 12 pounds and the other 15, and both looked very much better and said they felt very much better.

Now for your gaining program I want you first of all to increase your raw vegetables and fruit, especially about these containing in highest concentration the vitamin B, that is so necessary for the health of the intestinal tract, and therefore for the healthy appetite and digestion. You should have a good sized raw vegetable or fruit salad with a good helping mayonnaise, cream or French dressing, twice a day.

Now back to the milk. In the list of foods second highest in the appetite vitamin B., is milk. You should have at least a quart of milk daily in some form. It needn't all be in the form of drinks: but in custards, sauces, milk soups, etcetera. Milk has a lot of other things in it besides vitamins. A lot. It has the perfect protein for your repair and a liberal amounts of calcium and phosphorus, so necessary for health. (And no doubt your diet has been deficient in them.) And one glass of milk has 160 calories of energy value in its milk sugar, cream and protein.

You don't like milk? Learn to like it. Makes you bilious? Try buttermilk 80 C's. (per glass) or some of the acidophilus milks. These are especially good to help overcome the putrefactive germs in the intestines and to plant the friendly lactic acid germs. Or, just before you take your milk, take one-half orange or a good slice of lemon or grapefruit. This may startle you, for it has long been thought that fruit and vegetable acids with milk were a bad combination. But they don't make a bad combination. The fruit acids make the curds of the milk very mugh smaller and more easily digested.

(I'll give you a list of the wholesalers of the acidophilus milk if you desire it. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

Stop drinking tea and coffee and have milk or some milk drink instead. One of the best gaining procedures I know of is the exclusive milk diet. When you go to an institution that applies the milk cure you have to stay in bed for three weeks or so and take as high as six or seven quarts of milk daily. (We have a list of books on the milk diet which you may have by the request and a self-addressed stamped envelope.) Of course, the rest helps materially in the gaining process. (One can also lose weight on the milk diet—It's an excellent regime but in this case not over two quarts daily should be taken. One quart of milk is 640 calories; skim and buttermilk, half of this.)

Egg yolks are splendid gaining foods, they are high in vitamins and iron and rich fat. An egg yolk (50 to 90 C.s) unbroken in one-half glass of orange juice (50 C.s) can be taken after you consider you've eaten all you can, after each meal. This one procedure will add over 300 calories to your daily allowance. You can take the whole egg in this manner, if you like. (In this case, cut your meat and fish portion down.) You can beat your egg up in a glass of milk and make an egg-nog of it. Milk—160 C's., sugar, 3 cubes to the 100 C's, whole egg, 75 C's.

Still another good gaining food is nuts. We overweighters can testify to that—we love 'em. (We love every thing.) An ounce of the meat part of nuts is approximately 200 C's. You can add two or three ounces of the nut meats to your daily diet. You must also eat more of the wholegrain breads (or white bread made with milk) and butter, and more potatoes.)

Don't try to increase your calories too rapidly and don't try to increase them by taking an excess of oily foods because these will sometimes upset the digestion.

Tomorrow—Trivial Annoyances.

"Colonel Mitchell's Martyrdom?"

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 3.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: There appeared in The Star on January 29, an editorial entitled "Colonel Mitchell's Martyrdom." It offers some criticism for Colonel Mitchell although at the beginning of the editorial praise is poured upon the army officer. However, as criticism seems to be the parting thought as well as a certain degree of sarcasm it might be that this particular editorial is also open to criticism.

In the first place is the title "Colonel Mitchell's Martyrdom" correct as it might be? It may be true that he might have been a martyr if it is considered that his work is now completed. The only life that it is apparent he has lost is his life in the army. However, in losing that life he gained a far better life to carry his ideal through to completion in that he is now a citizen with right of free speech. There is, however, a possibility that Colonel Mitchell will be made a martyr by the very people whom he is trying to make see the light. That would be a most sad martyrdom to be sure for there are very few men in the army who have "sand" enough to come forward and speak the truth unflinchingly and then stand by it through thick and thin. Throughout Colonel Mitchell's court martial it may be said that there was extremely little criticism of his actions; in fact it may safely be said that the country as a whole was standing squarely behind him. Since the president has reduced the somewhat stiff penalty of the court martial board to a form of penalty which clearly indicates that the board was not entirely right and since the resignation of Colonel Mitchell from the army we see a change in the attitude of part of the public.

Instead of still standing squarely behind the colonel, since he is now in a position to bring more concerted action to prove his cause, we find a certain element of the public now withdrawing from the immediate scene of action and with their heads up in the air say to one another, "Let us watch and see what he does now." They are waiting to see the colonel make a mistake. Should he do so you would see them proudly wag their heads and say, "I told you so!" Just stop a minute right here. Why are we not behind this man today as we were a month ago. Right now is when he needs the concerted support of all well thinking Americans. Give Colonel Mitchell a fair and square chance to prove his contentions. Do not turn a skeptical ear to his statements, but listen to him with an unprejudiced ear until he has completed his argument. This affair will not be brought to a satisfactory close if someone nags

What Studebaker Saves

through One-Profit Manufacture

Gives you these fine-car features at a new low price—$1295

More power at less cost —according to the rating of the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Standard Six Sedan is the world's most powerful car of its size and weight. 28 Sedans have less rated horsepower, yet sell for $100 to $1890 more.

Four wide doors —a real Sedan in every sense of the word, with surprising interior roominess and luxury.

Full-size balloon tires —with specially designed steering gear. Steering and driving qualities unsurpassed.

Finer body construction—first grade northern white ash and hard maple are used in the body frames.

Costly alloy steels—we pay a premium to secure steel of extra quality. This insures greater dependability with longer life and lower upkeep costs. In 1925, sales of repair parts for all Studebaker cars averaged only $10 per car in operation.

Completely machined crankshaft—a feature found only in the most expensive cars. This insures perfect engine balance. Vibration is thereby eliminated.

Safety lighting control —on the steering wheel.

Automatic spark—regulated by speed of engine.

Coincidental lock to ignition and steering gear. A single key operates this lock as well as the locks on the door and on the spare-tire carrier.

Gasoline gauge, 8-day clock—speedometer, oil-pressure gauge and ammeter in oval group under glass. Walnut-finished instrument board.

Complete equipment includes automatic windshield cleaner, rear-view mirror, ash receiver, dome light, door pockets, attractive cowl lights, stop light, natural wood wheels.

Form-fit upholstery—utmost riding comfort provided by a new feature of seat back and cushion design.

Durable lacquer finish—with ivory striping, assures permanent beauty and lasting lustre.

Oil filter, gas strainer and air cleaner. Sealing the engine against foreign matter.

Water-proof ignition —even the spark plugs are protected from moisture by rubber shields.

Oil drain valve—for draining engine oil, without getting under the car.

One-Profit savings enable Studebaker to reduce the price of the Standard Six Sedan for the third time in 14 months

THREE times since January 1, 1925, One-Profit savings have been passed on to purchasers of Studebaker cars in price reductions—although refinements and improvements have been added which make the present Studebakers the finest ever built.

They are possible at the price because Studebaker is the only manufacturer in the world equipped to build quality cars on a One-Profit basis.

Studebaker's unique facilities

Few motor car "manufacturers" have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fifth of an automobile's cost is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third of a car's cost is in the body.

Studebaker builds all its own bodies, all engines, all clutches, gear sets, springs, differentials, steering gears, brakes, axles, gray-iron castings and drop forgings. Only Ford in the low-price field and Studebaker in the fine-car field have such complete manufacturing facilities.

One-Profit value

These facilities enable Studebaker to manufacture quality cars on a One-Profit basis—eliminating outside profits. The savings thus effected are passed on to Studebaker owners in the form of higher quality and lower price.

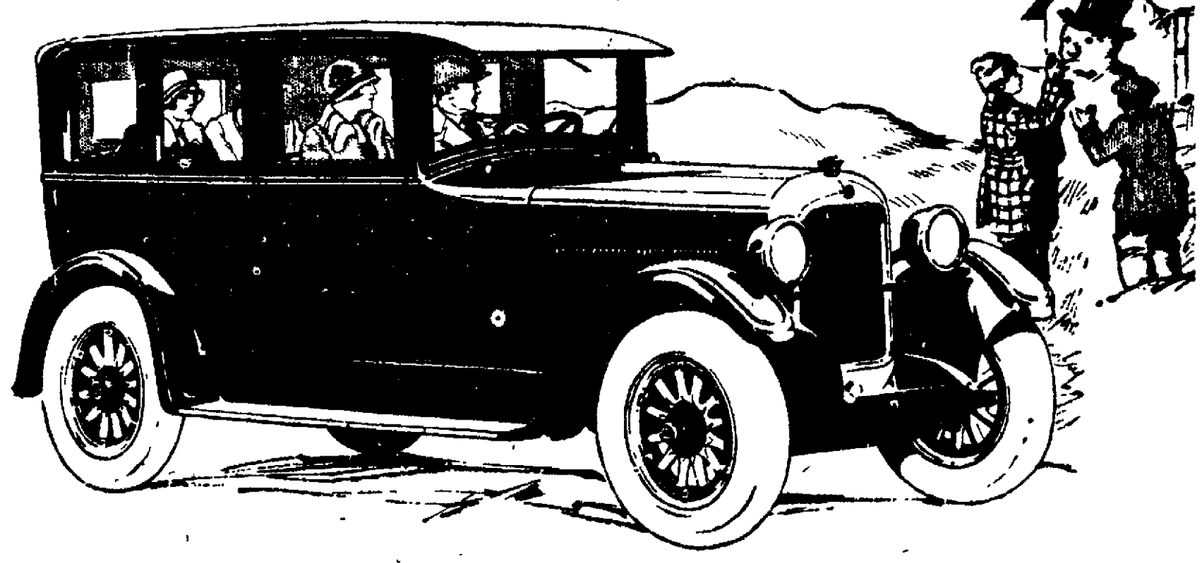

Always kept up-to-date

Direct manufacturing control enables Studebaker to keep cars constantly up-to-date. We add improvements regardless of the calendar—we do not save them up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificially obsolete. Resale values are thus stabilized.

Studebaker Standard Six Sedan

$1295 freight and war tax extra

Under Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan, this Sedan may be purchased out of monthly income for a small initial payment and at the lowest time-payment rates known to the automobile industry.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Who Coddles the Boy?

Dear Minerva: There is a lot being written about the modern flapper, but for my part I worry more over the modern sheik.

I can't see anything manly or inspiring or hopeful in the vapid youth of today with his foolish wide pants, his foolish sleek hair, his cigarette holders and his overweening pride in the keen Charleston he can kick.

Pooh-pooh for him. What kind of a man will he make? How can he hope to do much toward solving the world's problems when he is training himself in nothing but the sissified attractions.

I am seriously worried about this. What is at fault? Are the mothers of today responsible? Are they making silly little fops out of their boys instead of training them in the ways of strength of body and character? If so, the fathers had better interfere, and that quickly. — A LOOKER-ON.

A. Personally I think it is the fathers rather than the mothers who are responsible when the sons soften instead of harden with the years.

As young boys they are almost universally primitive enough. They want to rough it. They love to undertake gigantic jobs such as digging huge caves, building automobiles and boats out of odds and ends. The harder the job and the rougher the going the happier they are.

Who is it that does the coddling that makes of these adventuresome, task-seeking "kids" the fastidious, sleek, comfort-seeking, soft-job wanting youths? Who turns the joyous, hardship-enjoying, discomfort-loving lad into petted molly-coddle?

In many cases at least it is the father. It is the money maker of the family who has the fear complex and nags the boy into studying for that "soft" job, who rebels over "that young ruffian's" love for tinkering and delving, for exploring and adventure-seeking. It is father who talks to him of "safety" and "thinking of the future," who urges the white-collar job upon him and discourages him for taking that job on the ranch or roughing it with a bunch of engineers or electricians.

Father, who is obsessed with the nightmare of making money preaches nothing but "easy money."

Mother, the romanticist, is more likely to revel in her son's longing for the outdoors, the rougher more masculine pursuits. She dreams of great achievements for sonny; she doesn't want him shut up in some safe, easy job.

Father doesn't realize it. He snorts at the foppishness, at the extremties to which the boy goes. But he gives him anything to keep him safely at home. And he preaches, preaches money and easy jobs until all son's high ambitions and longings for adventure are gone. He is made to feel a blackguard for his tendencies to take the care apart and rebuild it, he is told how much more important it is to be able to talk glibly and sell that car. And in my opinion it is just such coddling as this that takes the manhood, the originality, the vitality out of a boy and makes him into a molly-coddle.

It Wouldn't Work.

Dear Minerva: "Bachelor" gives it as his opinion that a total cessation of births for a period of fifty years would mean a chance to create a new generation of the physically fit, and he suggests this plan as a cure-all for crime and human depravity.

It wouldn't work. Even if every human being on earth were mentally and physically perfect, the earth would still be filled with sin and crime. He doesn't have to go to Revelations or Jeremiah to get his answer. He doesn't even have to be a deep thinker to find the answer. He only needs to go back to Genesis.

In the beginning Adam and Eve were created physically perfect. They were free moral beings, with the choice of good or evil set before them. They were banished from the Garden of Eden, not because of petting, as Bachelor said, but because they disobeyed the "Thou shalt not" of the Lord. They were not banished from Eden, for Eden itself was a country of considerable extent, reaching from the Persian Gulf almost to the northern part of what is now called Mesopotamia, and from that portion of the country west of the Hiddekel, now known on the maps as the Kerkhah, the Karum, and the Tigris. "The Lord planted a garden eastward in Eden." It was from the Garden of Eden they were banished, not from Eden itself.

In the sixth chapter of Genesis it says that God saw that the wickedness of man was great on the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. The earth was filled with violence and corruption. The Lord determined to destroy the human race on account of its excessive wickedness, and accordingly sent a flood to accomplish that end, Noah and his family only being saved. These eight persons were saved because they alone were found to be perfect in their generation. They alone were found to be just and righteous.

When men again began to increase and multiply the old story of sin and crime and human depravity was repeated. The earth was again filled with violence. Murders were committed, and every sin known to man was repeated. It was not long until Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed because of the wickedness of the inhabitants.

No, "Bachelor's" plan wouldn't work. Striving for mental and physical perfection through the aid of education and athletics won't accomplish a thing. Eugenic marriage won't do it. Fine pedigrees won't do it. Before sin can be banished from the world "Bachelor" will have to corner and lasso the devil and cremate him in the hottest crematory. That will be done some day. But it will be a greater power than "Bachelor's" that does it.

Meanwhile on the pages of the New Testament God has outlined His plan for the redemption of mankind, a much better plan than Bachelor has suggested. God gave to the world a Savior and said: "This is my beloved Son. Hear ye Him." And Jesus said: "I am the door: by me, if any man enter in he shall be saved, and the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. Yet the world is full of people who are trying to get into the sheepfold in some other way and through some other door than that of Jesus Himself.

"Bachelor" points out that the world is again filled with violence and corruption. He would be blind who would not admit that. In the old days the earth had its Sodom and Gomorrah, its Babylon and Ninevah. Their ruins tell the tale of their wickedness and its sequel. Was the earth more corrupt in those days than it is now? There are various opinions about that. But we have only to look across the ocean to "heathen" China to know that men are still corrupting their way on the earth, for the Chinese money-worshippers are poisoning the race with their opium. But they are only heathen and don't know any better some will say. Then what about America, the land of the free and the home of the brave, where other "heathen" money-worshippers corrupt the soil of the sunny south by growing a poisonous weed, tobacco, with which to corrupt the race? Will it take the destruction of some of our modern Sodoms and Gomorrahs to remind the race of the God who created the universe and all that is therein? We have a modern Babylon over on the Atlantic seacoast, Peradventure it may sink into the ocean some day with all its Towers of Rabel.

I read an interesting article some time ago about Gotham's public dance halls and its night life. It said that New York had 736 licensed dance halls, and that in Manhattan alone in one year the attendance at these places was 6,113,604, with an expenditure of practically seven million dollars. Some of those places are listed as "good" (?), Some bad, and all are having their effect on young people to such an extent that the report of the advisory committee of the Women's City club and the recreation committee suggests: "We must begin to resist the tendency to live outside our homes." The report covers the management and operation of high-class restaurants and dance halls the Broadway dancing palaces, the rented hall, and the "closed" hall, where commercialization has been carried to extremes, the article says. It excoriates the latter in unmeasured terms as an iniquity that is "both vulgar and debasing." The "club" dancing places, the committee reports, are patronized by a "better" class of people. "Better" in whose estimation? Their own? Are they one whit less worldly than the "lower" class? Maybe they wear finer feathers, and have their names on some church roll, but how about the roll that is kept in the Lamb's Book of Life? Solomon said. "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." "The way of a fool is right in his own eyes." Solomon said it: if you don't like it it will still stand. For its a part of the Word of God, and will stand when Gibraltar has sunk into the sea.

I read the letter of "Mary's Mother" with interest. There are scores of mothers who could write similar letters if they only would. I know one other mother whose "Mary" performed a similar stunt, and afterward deliberately lied to her mother. The mother let "Mary" know she was caught red-handed in her lie, but she is still waiting for the first small token of repentance and shame from "Mary." This mother was like "Mary's Mother." The background and training was the same, with this difference: this second mother had not thrown open the door to temptation by having her "Mary" to take dancing lessons. She had been generous in granting her "Mary" liberty and privileges and pleasures, but not to the tune of the "fiddle" and the saxophone. And yet, strange as it seems, with dancing and worldliness on every hand, at every turn, we still have a class of "blind leaders" who declare that it isn't "outside influences. Much they know about it.—ARDENT.

Friends Always Welcomed.

Dear Minerva: I have been reading a number of pieces in the paper regarding girl's morals. It sure is disgusting how people are always discussing a girl's bad points and a boy's character is left unpainted by town gossip.

I think a boy who has not enough will power to guide himself through life without committing a crime is not much good. Also, I have just finished "Kisses for Me's" letter. It certainly is disgusting how some girls can admit they are so unladylike. I am a high school student and go with boys and engage in a certain amount of petting. But I am very particular who I kiss and I also bring my friends to my home where they are always warmly received by my mother.

This is the first time I have written to you but I have read so much on the things I have just mentioned I thought I would like to pass an opinion too.—TEDDIE.

A. You are fortunate in having a mother who is always glad to receive your friends.

Always return her kindness with your confidence and you will not wander far astray, I am sure.

Too Sentimental.

Dear Minerva: I am a boy of nineteen going to the university here and I have been reading your articles ever since I have been in Lincoln. I have several uestions I would like your advice on as they have worried me for some time.

One is that I am the only child and I have always craved younger companionship, but my mother has always tried to keep me from it and now I am beginning to go with a girl in my home town and my folks do not approve of it. It is not that girl but is any that I turn my attention to. Some of my relatives aand older friends tell me to go ahead and keep my female company and so consequently I am baffled at just what to do because I have always thought that my parents know best

Then also here is another problem, this girl friend companion now in my home town is perfectly willing to be my life companion and we are quite in doubt as to whether to become engaged now and not take the final step till I have finished my complete education, which will take 6 years, or wait entirely till then. Now, if we do become engaged we will not be entirely cut off from all other friends as are most couples because we neither of us are jealous, very luckily, and we have our other friends just the same in fact both of us encourage each other to get out and have other company, and to determine whether we are serious or not. I would appreciate receiving your advice soon.—DOUBTFUL.

A. Your parents object to your intimate companionship with a young girl through fear of just what is happening—that you will take such a friendship all too seriously and sentimentally.

Do not form any sentimental attachments until you have seen more of girls and more of life. You might perchance come back to your first love, but if soo, let it be an entirely voluntary returning, not bound by any childish pacts and promises.

here at the colonel and someone nags there. The editorial referred to by these comments accused Colonel Mitchell of lacking the sense of humor. It intimates that he lost his fight in the army simply because he lacked the sense of humor. May we ask, —where would this sense of humor have been displayed? This is a very serious matter and pertains directly to the safety of our nation. What could be a more serious matter than the safety of our nation! Colonel Mitchell realizes the seriousness of the matter and instead of trying to pull him to pieces why not stop this nagging and give him a chance to make good and make good with our hearty support. Who knows less about the army than you and I? Let us listen to this man who is admitted to be an expert in army affairs and weigh his statements fairly instead of waiting to have him make a mistake so we can stand back and say "I told you so!" Let us share the responsibility of this grave question with the colonel and lend him all the aid we possibly can in making clear his contentions. May it be the wish of all good Americans that Colonel Mitchell be given the Blessing of the Almighty Power to carry his convictions forward with unfailing courage!—IVANHOE.

Children's Colds

Best Treated Externally

CONSTANT dosing upsets little stomachs. Modern mothers prefer to treat children's colds externally—with Vicks VapoRub. They simply rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Vicks acts two ways at once:

(1) Like the old-fashioned poultice in "drawing out" the soreness and pain; and, at the same time,

(2) Like a modern vapor lamp because the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of medicated vapors which are inhaled all night long. These loosen the phlegm and open the congested air passages.

Most colds yield by morning to this double direct action.

STATE PHYSICIAN MUST TAKE EXAM

Dr. L. N. Bollmeier, Assistant at Hastings Hospital, Not Licensed.

May Be Forced Drop Out As Special Session Examiners Unlikely.

Dr. Rudolph N. Bollmeier, assistant physician at the Hastings state hospital for insane, is expected to make application within a day or two for examination to determine his qualifications as a medical practitioner, but whether the state medical examing board will arrange a special examination for him in advance of the regular one next May is doubtful, according to a letter written by Dr. E. W. Rowe of Lincoln, acting secretary for that body.

Chairman L. C. Oberlies of the board of control has instructed Dr. George L. Pinney, acting superintendent of the Hastings institution, to have Bollmeier take an examination as soon as possible. The board of control did not know until recently, its members say, that Bollmeier had no license in Nebraska, or that his license in the state of Connecticut was revoked in December, 1923 Both these facts are admitted by him in a letter to the Nebraska medical examining board, dated January 30 this year.

The letter sent by Chairman Oberlies to Acting Superintendent Pinney on February 2, after Oberlies had conferred on the matter with State Welfare Secretary Frost, says:

"We are in some distress of mind about the case of Dr. Bollmeier He is apparently a graduate of the St. Louis college of physicians and surgeons, which merged later with the national university, which institution, I understand, has been in some question regarding its methods, and the encyclopedia indicates this fact.

"It appears that Dr. Bollmeier must have a license to practice in Nebraska before we can permit him to go ahead. I wish you would attend to this at once and have him take his examination so he can avoid embarrassment for us"

Might Have To Drop Out.

Unless the medical examining board consents to hold a special examination for Bollmeier's benefit, he may be compelled to relinquish his position at Hastings, under the wording of this letter. He is on the institution payroll at $125 per month in addition to board, lodging, laundry and other living expenses paid by the state.

Mrs. Clark Perkins, chief of the state bureau of examnations, has notified Bollmeier that he cannot legally practice in Nebraska until he obtains license. Up to Thursday noon his application had not been received.

Chairman Omerlies of the board of control was absent from Lincoln on Thursday. In reply to queries about the case, Mrs. Carrie A. Birss, one of the members, said.

"The policy of the board is to employ only licensed physicians at the institutions under its supervision Dr. Bollmeier was employed a year ago by Supt W S Fast of the insane hospital As to what inquiry may have been made regarding his credentials we are not informed"

Bollmeier is said to have an Arkansas license and to have practiced at Maysville, Ark., about 6 months in 1922; but this would not entitle him to practice in Nebraska.

Says Ruling Shows Traffic Violation Leaves No Redress

Denial by District Judge Wheeler Wednesday of an award in a damage action where the plaintiff asked $10,000 for injuries received when hit by an automobile, was the cause of much satisfaction Thursday at the city hall The defendant was given a directed verdict when it was contended that the accident occured when the plaintiff started across the street between intersections

Mayor Zehrung voiced the sentiment of city officials when he declared "the decision by Judge Wheeler should bring pedestrians to a full realization that every time they cross an intersection against traffic signals they take their lives in their hands, and likewise endanger their own property rights

"My interpretation of Judge Wheeler's ruling is that whenever a pedestrian crosses a street against the ordinances he has no recourse at law in the event of injury"

Judge Wheeler's decision is of the greatest importance to the people of Lincoln, the mayor said, and pedestrians are making a great mistake when they wilfully violate the traffic ordinances with such a ruling confronting them

"If pedestrians would obey the signal lights as well as automobilists observe both the lamps and the stop buttons," the mayor continued, "there would be no danger of accidents."

Guarding Against Higher Coal Rate

To safeguard Nebraska interests against any action which might indirectly lead to an increase in freight rates on coal from the south, the state railway commission is asking permission from the interstate commerce commission to intervene in the complaint filed by the Illinois coal traffic bureau against western roalroads, alleging discrimination against Illinois coal shipped into this territory.

There is no objection by the Nebraska body to a reduction in rates from Illinois coal fields to this state, but it will protest vigorously against any readjustment which would undertake to correct the alleged discrimination by advancing rates from the south

Authority is also requested from the federal commission to intervene against the railroads in their petition for increased compensation from the United States government for transporting mail. This is on the theory that if the carriers were allowed higher pay, it would necessitate increasing postage rates

The state commission has given approval for all Nebraska lines to substitute a charge of $3.75 for holding iced cars 12 hours at destination without unloading in place of the present rate of $4 where cars are thus held 24 hours.

A reduction from $1 30 to $1 10 per ton on carload shipments of sand over the Rock Island from Meadow to Beatrice and intermediate points has received the commission's O. K.

ARREST ALLEGED COUNTERFEITER

Man Taken In Omaha Said to Have Passed Bad Money In Lincoln.

OMAHA, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A man giving the name of L. J. Williams, 26, of Seattle, Wash., was arrested and turned over to federal authorities here today on charges of counterfeiting U S. currency. Detectives say he confessed to the charges and told of leaving a trail of spurious currency in Chicago, Aurora, and Springfield, Ill, Cedar Rapids, Davenport, Des Moines, Rock Island, Council Bluffs and Lincoln, Neb.

Williams said he had been arrested on the same charge only once, at Seattle, but had escaped because none of the spurious money could be found for evidence He said he then served a short vagrancy term there. Detectives said he boasted of his skill, talked with the polish of an educated person and exhibited a system for making counterfeit money.

Report To Anderson.

A man who said he had passed numerous counterfeit silver dollars in Lincoln was arrested by Omaha police there Wednesday night and turned over to federal authorities, according to a telephone call to Captain of Detectives Walter Anderson from J. J Pszanowski, police inspector, Thursday morning

The man said that he had been passing counterfeit dollars here since last November.

Knowledge that counterfeit money had been passed in Lincoln was new to Captain Anderson No report had been made to police during the time that Williams is alleged to have been here

KELLOGG STATES KAROLYI STAND

Tells Court Entry Of Countess Prejudicial to Nation's Interests.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—(By the Associated Press)—Secretary Kellogg told the Supreme court of the District of Columbia today that evidence received by him had led him to the belief that the entry of Countess Catherine Karolyi into the United States would be prejudicial to the interests of the nation.

He made this reply through government attorneys to a suit recently filed by the countess' attorneys, who sought to force him to permit her entry after the recent decision to refuse to vise her passport at Paris.

The secretary said he instructed the American consul general at Paris to refuse a visa and that the countess is subject to exclusion under the passport control act of May 22, 1922, a proclamation by the president of August 8, 1918, and an executive order of January 12, 1925. In addition, he said, he is given discretion under the law to determine what persons shall be excluded and that this exercise of discretion is not reviewable in court

He did not disclose the nature of evidence against the countess

Protest Extension City's Boundaries

A second petition against extending the boundaries of the city to the east was filed late Wednesday with the city clerk, and will be presented to the council Monday afternoon. It is signed by nineteen property owners living east of Forty-fourth street between O and Vine

The petitioners claim that their land is used exclusively for for agricultural purposes and that they are already under a heavy burden of recent additions to their taxes through the paving of East O street. It is also set out that the petitioners are in Lincoln school districts and do not agree to accept any further expense of the extension of the city's boundaries

No suggestion has been made to the council that the territory included in the petition be taken into the city, and no such move has been contemplated, it was said Thursday by officials. The only project under discussion is to extend the boundaries east to Fifty-sixth street south of O. Should this be done there is a possibility that the line may be extended one half block north of O to include several homes which, it is said, will be directly benefitted by having city water so close. Conferences with the owners has developed that some of them will be willing to accept the additional expense.

ORDER PROBE OF WARD FOOD FIRM

Federal Trade Commission to Conduct a Special Investigation.

New Inquiry Separate From General Hearings On Baking Industry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — (By the Associated Press) — A special investigation has been ordered by the federal trade commission into the Ward Food Products corporation, recently organized to deal in materials used by the baking industry.

The investigation will be conducted by the legal department of the commission, and will be apart from the economic investigation of the entire baking industry, which has been in progress for several months, as directed by a senate resolution. The general investigation will not be completed for several months, and heretofore it had been the general view in commission circles that it would embrace the newly formed Ward company

As ordered, the new investigation is distinct from one proposed in the senate yesterday by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, who asked that a senate committee investigate all companies directly or indirectly controlled by William B. Ward, with his associates organized the Food Products corporation

Replying to that move, Mr. Ward wired Senator La Follette that he would welcome senatorial scrutiny of the project.

Coryell Tells Of Florida Situation In Talk to Club

George Coryell told the Knife and Fork club Thursday noon at a luncheon at the Lincoln hotel that Florida is so near sea level that it is almost impossible to drain the lands there Much of it is sand, and unfit for cultivation, he said.

There are some 400 salesmen traveling through the north selling these lots on terms of $10 down to school teachers, clerks and laborers. Mr. Coryell said He added that he "can not see where the buyers are going to get their money back"

While driving through Tennessee Mr. Coryell met Judge Ralston who presided at the Scopes evolution trial and was informed that the jurist will visit Lincoln probably in the spring Judge Ralston is coming to Lincoln to visit the university, talk with the faculty and ascertain what the home city of W. J. Bryan is like. The judge told Mr. Coryell that graduates of Nebraska university are scattered all over Tennessee and he is anxious to see the state and the university that can produce such clean, and universally successful men and women as those who have gone to Tennessee from the school here

Mr Coryell was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Coryell and their young son, Glenn

O. K.'s $5,000,000 Preferred Issue of Northwestern Bell

Approval of a $5,000,000 issue of additional preferred stock bearing 6 1-2 per cent, which is to be sold in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., has been given by the state railway commission. The proceeds, it is stated, will be used to retire other obligations of the company and pay for additions and improvements to the property.

At present, the outstanding common stock of the company is $65,000,000 During the past year it retired $27,623,300 of bonds bearing 7 per cent interest, on which it had to pay a premium of 7 1-2 per cent to call in. This made the total cost about $31,000,000. Of this sum, $28,000,000 was borrowed from other Bell corporations and $3,000,000 is carried as bills payable.

Indebtedness of the Northwestern Bell to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co, the parent concern, was reduced in 1925 from $6,200,000 to $4,750,000, by applying surplus earnings thereto

Medley is in jail at Auburn on charges of robbing the Barney drug store at Peru on the night of January 24, in which police say he obtained $500, while Sweet and Lauderback are in jail at Papillion

According to Condit a considerable amount of goods which are believed to have been stolen from the Nemaha store were found secreted in Medley's house. Some of the goods were hidden between the partitions and in the ventilating pipes of the house.

The arrests resulted from an investigation which has been in progress for several months, Condit said Condit and Deputy Otto Dudschus went to Omaha early this week for the final work on the case They were accompanied by Sheriff Davis of Nemaha county and Sheriff Olderog of Sarpy county and South Omaha detectives when the arrests were made.

New Plane Promises 18 Hours U. S. to London

How the De Muth monotriplane would look in flight over the ocean.

NEW YORK—Trans-Atlantic passenger service by means of airplanes is soon to have its first important test.

A company is being organized to try out a new sype of flying machine developed by Dr. Armin De Muth, German aero designer, in a regular passenger and freight schedule between New York and London.

A model of the craft was tested recently at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and won approval, and preparations are being made to complete the first of the machines by summer.

In design the machine is a monotriplane, 147 feet long, with a beam of 12 feet, and a height of 20 feet, power by eight 800-horsepower motors, four on each side. Four of the engines are considered enough to propel the plane under ordinary circumstances, and the other four will be held in reserve.

Present plans call for compartments for fifty passengers and two tons of freight Mr De Muth believes that under good flying conditions, the trip across the Atlantic can be made at 150 miles an hour, or about eighteen hours from New York to London or vice versa. Prevailing winds would, of course, make a difference in the time necessary between east and west and west and east.

Dr De Muth believes that he has discovered a way to make the plane's body unsinkable, so that if it were forced to come down in mid-ocean it could float and await aid summoned by wireless, or take lifeboats

The Sixth district congressman made a trip by automobile through his district last summer in order to get into closer touch with his constituents and ascertain their wishes on matters of public policy. The district contains 36 counties, covering almost half of the state of Nebraska, and the journey consumed the greater part of two months' time.

Murder Seen In Death of Five On Farm

DOWAGIAC, Mich., Feb. 4.—(AP) The spectre of murder and suicide arose today from the ashes of the William Wilkinson farm home on Magician lake, when officers found that the skulls of two of the five members of the family who lost their lives had been crushed.

The charred bodies of Wilkinson, 55, his wife, 60, his son, Floyd, 27, his unmarried daughter, Gineth, 25, and the latter's 3-days-old baby were taken from the ruins of the house at daybreak.

Examination showed the skulls of Gineth and Floyd had been crushed.

The theory of officers now is that the father, crazed by the birth of a girl to his daughter, killer her and her brother, then set fire to the house.

CASSOPOLIS, Mich., Feb 4—(AP)—Five persons, all members of one same family, were burned to death today when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the home of William Wilkinson on the shore of Magician lake, near here.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs Wilkinson, Floyd, their son, Gineth, an unmarried daughter and her 3-days-old baby Two other sons were away from home when the house burned

County officers were told that the father had made veiled threats since the birth of his daughter's child

FARMER MUST BE HIS OWN KEEPER

McKelvie Issues Warning Against Federal Control Farm Affairs.

Says In Ames Address Need Is for Fair Field In Which to Operate.

In an address given Wednesday night at Ames, Ia., in connection with Farm and Home week at Iowa state college, former Governor S. R. McKelvie of Nebraska urged agriculture not to give up individual initiative for control of its affairs by the government. His address follows:

"Chickens have come home to roost. The farmer's hard luck story has been so well told that there has been a decided reaction in the public markets against farm securities.

"The Federal Farm Land Bank board has ruled that farms secured through foreclosure by the Joint Stock Land banks shall be charged off at the rate of 20 per cent per year This is the equivalent of saying that these farm lands have no value. Of course, such an opinion is utterly absurd, for every one knows that farm lands have a substantial value, and in most cases the foreclosed farms are being operated at a reasonable profit by the banks that have taken them over. The only justification for the ruling might be that the preaching of agricultural distress has undermined public confidence in farming, and the purchasers of the bonds and stocks of the Joint Stock Land banks regard foreclosed farm lands of doubtful value.

"There is no gainsaying the fact that a business cannot tell the world that it is broke, and still expect a reasonable hearing of its requests for financial assistance. Yet that it what a certain class of spokesmen for agriculture has been doing for the last five or six years

Agriculture Not Broke.

"The simple fact is that agriculture is not broke, and it is not going to be broke. Farmers on the whole have registered steady improvement in their financial condition in spite of some inequalities against which they have had to labor. In reckoning the farmer's income, one essential fact has been entirely overlooked. No credit is given for the farm as a home. This item is never figured in the farmer's income, and yet it is just as much a part of his income as if it were paid him in cash. The conditions under which the average farmer lives would represent an outlay in the city of not less than $1,000.00 per year—that is, for rent, higher taxes, and the cost of living in many other respects. In a state like Iowa this totals $213,481,000.

"I would not presume to say that there are not a large number of farmers in Iowa who are in distress Neither would I ignore the fact that there is a large number who are favorably situated and are making no complaint. Without attempting to fix responsibility for the condition of those who are suffering most, I do say that in the last analysis, the farmer must be the custodian of his own affairs, and it is not fair to credit to agriculture as a whole the failure of those who have speculated in a business that is by its very nature circumscribed by most conservative bounds.

"Agriculture is not a get-rich-quick business Those who succeed in it must apply to their endeavors the soundest principles of economic practice. If this rule is not observed, no amount of governmental aid, relief or control will insure the success of farming.

"Land speculation always has been and always will be a bad thing for the farmer. It fixes artificial values upon which the farmer must earn. Usually, these speculative periods result during a period of unusual prosperity. At such times, the speculator takes his toll and leaves the actual farmer to hold the sack. A farm is worth what it will earn—no more, no less, and the earning power of a farm should be determined, not by temporary conditions, but by production returns covering a substantial period of years.

Farmer Must organize.

"In its partially unorganized state, agriculture has been obliged to suffer unwarranted losses. Industry and labor are organized, They have pressed this advantage to the point that farming has been made to suffer. I do not believe that the government alone can overcome this condition It can help by removing the advantages that have been given to industry and labor, but in the last analysis, the farmer must organize for his own interest and welfare, and he must not yield one iota of the independence that is naturally his.

"If the farmer wants it, he probably can secure government control of his affairs, and if he is not alert to present trends, he probably will get it whether he want it or not. What he should strive for is to break down artificial barriers that have been erected against his welfare so that he may have a fair field in which to operate.

"The American farm is the last citadel of American independence at its best. Here, individual initiative and enterprise are wont to exercise the functions that have made our country what it is. I would not yield one particle of this independence—certainly not for a sop in the form of temporary relief."

Little Red School House Is Passing

These young "Venetians" in Venice, Cal., pile into this Studebaker bus every morning at eight-thirty.

When Johnny rides in the comfortable motor bus several miles to the big brick consolidated or township school, he wonders at the hardships of the "pioneer" days on foot to the little red school house on the hill.

Johnny has specialist teachers in each subject he studies. His father walked over rough roads to a poorly-heated frame building, where one teacher taught everything, from the "alphabet" class to the eighth grade.

The motor bus has changed all this. Children are now taken to school and delivered safely to their homes, every day.

Twenty thousand busses, a third of the whole number in operation, were used daily to transport 470,000 school children in 1925. It is estimated that 10,000 additional busses will be needed soon.

Studebaker busses carry loads of 35 to 37 daily for the Lima, O., centralized high school The Venice union high school in California carries forty pupils at a time in another Studebaker bus.

The standard of teaching staffs in the consolidated schools is higher than it used to be in the finest city schools.

"Bill" Tilden Explains.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—William T. Tilden, tennis champion, in a letter to the Herald-Tribune today states that an interview appearing in this week's Harvard Crimson inaccurately presented his views as to amateur and professional sports.

The Crimson quoted Tilden as saying that college football is a professional sport and the players might as well be paid for their efforts. Tilden writes that he really said:

"I saw no reason for all the yell about amateur and professional sports; that the line of demarcation between professionalism and commercialization was primarily one of whether the individual was paid or not, and that under the present system it seemed to me that since the organizations were getting the return on sport, the players might well be paid too.

"I remember (which doubtless the interviewer forgot) that I did not approve of professional sport in theory, but that open professionalism is superior to commercialized amateurism if it evades the law. Strange though it may seem, I am a great believer in amateur sport."

The doctor had prescribed it for the baby, but I found out it's just the thing for old fellows like me, too.

MINERS, OWNERS FAR FROM PEACE

Disruption Of Latest Negotiations Brings Call For Finish Fight.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Miners and operators today had buckled on their armor for a fight to the finish in the Pennsylvania hard coal fields, now in its sixth month.

The disruption of the latest peace negotiations left the two sides as far apart as ever.

Statements breathing determination not to recede from the position taken, especially on arbitration, were issued yesterday by rPesident John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, and Maj. W W. Inglis, chairman of the operators negotiating committee. Major Inglis and his associates departed for their homes, but the principal miners' officials remained here.

Last night there was not a ray of hope in the gloom enshrouding the hard coal regions, where 158,000 miners have been idle since September 1, many of them suffering hardships. Many towns in the 500 square miles affected have felt the blight of industrial paralysis. Bankruptcies have been frequent of late and more are feared.

Hard coal is virtually unavailable in many thousands of homes in the region and the old piles of culm are being searched over and over again for the 'black diamonds" among the slate and rock. Women and girls are prominent among the pickers.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, a former secretary-treasure of the United Mine Wokers, was in Philadelphia for a few hours yesterday but he did not confer with his former colleagues. He declined to discuss the strike situation, saying it was "too serious and critical' and left for Washington last night

Bobby and Bill Mix in Play-Off Of Golf Classic

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 4—(AP)—Two Chicago professional golfers, "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn and Bobby Cruickshank, apparently having forgotten their tilt at the close of the Texas open tournament a few weeks ago, today meet to determine the south central open championship.

The two yesterday tied for the south central title and first prize of $1,500 with scores of 285 in a nerve-racking finish of the 72-hole grind. The winner of today's event captures the $1,500 first money, with the loser taking $1,200 for second prize.

MacDonald Smith of Great Neck, L. I., winner of two Texas tournaments recently, and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, last year's winner of the south central title, finished in a tie for third place with scores of 286

Joe Kirkwood of New York, favored by many to finish among the first three, could not place higher than seventh with 290

Resident East Of City Approves Of Extending Limits

Approval of the extension of the city's boundaries to include about 640 acres of land to the east is voiced in a letter received by City Clerk Berg from O. L. Mellinger, living on route 4 Mr Mellinger sets forth his reasons why there should be no objections by those living in the territory to be taken in, as follows:

"I read, with interest of your proposal to take into the city the portion of land lying south of O street and east of Forty-eighth street to Fifty-sixth street.

"Let me say here, that these residents are deriving a great many benefits from the city. You will find, with a very few exceptions, that they gain their livelihood from the city, that their children attend the city's schools, and that they try to have more or less voice in the city's business. Their land is more valuable from the fact that it is near the city. I believe they desire to be in the city, but of course would rather wait until the city boundaries are right in their dooryard.

"In this area of the smaller tracts you will find probably two hundred families using common shallow wells for their only water supply, there being probably only three or four wells for this whole community, known as the Randolph Acres. You can readily see from the standpoint of health alone why this community must have sewer and water facilities.

"Appreciating that we have the liveliest bunch of men we have ever had assembled together in the council. I believe this move would be right in line with your present progressive policy."

Head of Louisville And Nashville Road Dies In Canal Zone

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 4—(AP)—Stunned by its suddenness, Louisville today mourned the death of Wimble Lawrence Mapother, 54 president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, who dropped dead on the streets of Panama City, Canal Zone, while enjoying a short vacation there.

Mr. Mapother was born in Louisville, September 28, 1872. He entered the service of the Louisville & Nashville railroad at the age of 16 as an office boy and was advanced rapidly until he reached the presidency at the age of 49.

During the World War he was named federal manager of the Louisville & Nashville and a number of other roads operating in Kentucky and other southern states. At his death, the Louisville & Nashville railroad employed approximately 60,000 workers and had 5,041 miles of trackage traversing thirteen states.

MAKE THE BOB MORE BECOMING

All beauty experts agree that every woman should arrange the bob to suit her special style of beauty. Some like the hair worn plain, some waved, some elaborately curled, but however it is worn, the hair itself must be healthy, lustrous and abundant. To do this, the right shampoo is essential and women who are "in the know" welcome the use of the simple preparation called Canthrox

It is easily used—simply dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and apply it all over the head. The hair dries evenly, is never streaked, and because it is so fluffy appears more abundant than it really is This shampoo is excellent, also, to stimulate the scalp and leave a clean, healthful feeling. Canthrox is inexpensive, costing only three cents a shampoo. It can be had of any druggist.—Advertisement.

Dempsey's Terms Met for Title Mix With Wills

Coast Grabs Choicest of Fight Plums

California Promoter In With Claim Dempsey Has Signed to Clash With Wills in Labor Day Glove Battle.

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(I. N. S.)—Jack Dempsey has agreed and signed in his own handwriting to defend his title of heavyweight championship of the world in Los Angeles, Labor day, against Harry Wills, Jack Doyle, Los Angeles promoter, representing a syndicate of real estate and business men, declared today.

"Dempsey has agreed to fight Wills here and if the syndicate of Los Angeles men putt up the money Dempsey asks, there is nothing to stop the bout," Doyle declared.

TERMS NOT ANNOUNCED.

The promoter refused to reveal Dempsey's terms, but it was said the champion had asked $500,000 cash in advance and $250,000 additional the day he faces the brown panther.

"I was delegated to deal with Dempsey some time ago by the local syndicate, but until today I haven't revealed the result of my conference with the champion," said Doyle.

SIGNED ON DOTTED LINE.

"Now I will state positively that Dempsey has not only agreed to fight Wills in Los Angeles, but I have his signature to an agreement to that effect. I went over terms with the champion and we not only came to an agreement, which he signed, but the date was set for Labor day."

Doyle, who has also been authorized to sign Wills, said he expected to line up the negro as soon as the syndicate made an initial payment to Dempsey and obtained the use of the Los Angeles Coliseum, seating 100,000 persons for the proposed bout.

AFTER WILLS NOW.

"I've got Dempsey and will have little trouble landing Wills when the time comes," Doyle said. "As soon as the syndicate completes its financing plans and obtains the Coliseum I will sign Wills and the match will be definitely on."

Doyle declared regardless of how Dempsey is quoted, the champion was under positive agreement to meet Wills here Labor day.

Hudkins Goes On With O'Brien In February Fight

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(I N S.)—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska lightweight and Pacific coast lightweight champion, signed today to box ten rounds here Feb. 17 against Tommy O'Brien, New York.

O'Brien won from Hudkins last fall when the referee ruled that the New York fighter had been fouled.

Greb Razzed by Crowd.

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 4.—(I N S.)—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, slapped and cuffed his way to a decision over Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul in a ten-round bout here last night. Greb easily outpointed Delaney, but it was the Pittsburgh man who took the heavier blows. Delaney put Greb on his heels in the second ruond with a hard right to the jaw and in the next round clipped Greb on the ear with a hard right swing, leaving that member badly mussed.

The fans did not take kindly to Greb's style of fighting and gave the champion numerous cheers of the Bronx variety.

Doubts if Monte Will Make Grade

BY ED WRAY.

(In St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

Another member of the Munn family is going to cash in on an athletic reputation. He is Monte Munn, a younger brother. Besides Monte there is still another—Wade. Both Monte and Wade played against Washington university during the S. A. T. C. year when Simpson, Conzelman & Co. won by 20 points to 6 for the Huskers.

Monte and Wade were better players than Wayne ("Big") who was not good enough to make the Valley conference eleven, first or second, if we recall correctly.

Monte is to take up a boxing career. But, judging from the fact that he has been vocalizing for a Lincoln, Neb., radio broadcasting station, his ring experience is likely to be confined to announcing.

Kellogg to Face Hawkeye Captain

The lightweight match between Kellogg of Nebraska and Captain Michael of the Hawkeyes promises to be the feature of the Iowa-Nebraska dual wrestling meet to be held at the Nebraska armory Friday evening.

Michael has a record of never having had his shoulders pinned to the mat, while Kellogg is a former Nebraska captain and a wrestler of long experience in intercollegiate circles.

The Nebraska lineup will be the same as that which trounced the Kansas Aggies with the exception of the 108-pound and 115-pound weights. There will be no 108-pound match and Max Karrer of Benedict will represent Nebraska in the bantam division. Karrer beat out Blore in a tryout this week.

The Iowa-Nebraska match will be competed under western intercollegiate rules, the regulations that governed mat competition last year.

Last Night's Fights.

At Newark—George Ward, Elizabeth, N. J., decisioned Jack Rappaport, South Orange, N. J., twelve rounds; Harry Dudley, California, knocked out Jack McFarland, Elizabeth, fifth round.

At Oakland—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, beat Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul, ten rounds.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla.—Jack Renault scored a technical knockout over Joe Kirt, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., three rounds.

At Los Angeles—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, Ind., beat Joey Sangor, Milwaukee, ten rounds.

Wives of Ball Players Banned On Spring Trips

BY AL DEMAREE.

In about two weeks the annual arguments between the ball players and their wives will start. Many ball clubs do not allow the players "better halves" to accompany them on spring training trips. Hence the big domestic rows.

George Stallings, former manager of the Boston Braves, star the custom of leaving the wives and, I believe, and other clubs followed suit. And the managers have some good solid reasons for the custom too. Many a good ball club, they say, has been broken up, players made enemies, cliques formed and Morale shattered, which had its origin in quarrels and bickerings between wives of the players during spring training. The women carried tales and gossiped about other players who had left their wives behind that often seriously crippled the morale of the club months afterward and caused so much friction that clubs which were pennant contenders, finished down in the second division.

BULLDOGS EASILY DEFEAT KEARNEY

Cotner Cops Eighth Victory In String By Winning From Antelopes.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

The Cotner college Bulldogs registered their eighth victory of the state conference basketball season Wednesday night when they took the measure of the Kearney Normal tossers, 32 to 21. It was the second defeat of the campaign for the Antelopes, the Kearneyites having received the short end of the score at Dana college.

Aside from the first few minutes of play, when Kearney spurted to a 4-1 lead, the Cotner team was never in danger. Absence of Center Virgil Haught, Arnold high athlete, threw the Kearney machine out of gear and the Antelopes presented very little opposition to the basketwork of Tilsley and Shuman, the Cotner followers slipping through for a number of set-up shots.

Huber High for Kearney.

Foward Huber, captain, and I. Carskadon, who will captain the 1926 Kearney Normal eleven were the main reliance of the Antelopes Huber accounted for ten points. He possesses an unusually good eye for the basket and has a fair brand of floor work.

Carskadon's basket from the side enabled Kearney to score first. Bill Borgaard scored from the foul line for Cotner, but Huber was good for a short basket and the two teams battled several minutes before baskets by Kennedy and Tilsley sent the Bulldogs into the lead.

Cotner Retains Lead.

Cotner never relinquished the advantage, the Bulldogs holding a 20-9 lead at half-time. Kearney started to creep up toward the Cotner total in the second half, but after five minutes of play, the Cotner forwards again sifted past the Kearney defense to put the game on ice

Coach Fred Fulmer and his Kearney team left Lincoln this morning for Peru, where they will meet Coach Lon Graf's Pedagogues. Kearney will play at York college Friday night. Cotner meets Peru at Peru Saturday night. The score:

BAN B. REBUFFED BY RIVAL LEAGUE

National Loop Raps Johnson By Favoring Renewal Of Landis Regime.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(I. N. S.)—One of our prominent citizens left his chin unguarded again yesterday, with the customary result that only the tell-tale "X" now marks the spot where the body was found. Imbued with the lofty purpose of starting another anti-Landis crusade, he rushed from his corner and ed with his chin. The National league of professional baseball clubs acted as honorary pallbearers.

The one-punch knockout, is a popular gesture with everybody but the gentleman it most concerns. The boys became quite exercised when our Mr. Dempsey dropped one over on Funny Fred Fulton. But, as to that, they are still talking in the Sunday schools about what David did to Goliath.

BAN B.'S BEST ENEMY.

It remained, however, for the National league to establish the modern record at the expense of Byron Bancroft Johnson by recommending that Byron's arch-irritant, Judge Landis, be retained for a period of ten years at the expiration of his $50,000 contract.

This meant the beginning and the end of another baseball war, tacitly declared when Johnson turned up missing at the National league's golden jubilee dinner Thursday night. He tooks this means of notifying Landis and baseball in general what he had in mind when the judge's contract ran out next year

All the running out, now, probably will be done by Mr. Johnson. The summary reprisal exacted by the National league at once should prove the end of his Landis complex and the beginning of a new regime for bigger and better commissionerships.

LIKES THAT FIFTY GRAND.

According to those in his confidence, the judge entertained some idea of stepping out from under when his term of office expired. He probably will think better of its after receipt of the National league's heartening message. It confesses a desire to pay him $50 000 a year for ten years and the judge is nothing, if not a good fellow. He'll take the $50 000.

Of course it takes two to make an agreement and the American league happens to be a party of the second part. But with the rival league lined up so solidly behind Landis, the Johnson outfit can do no less than follow.

SPLIT IN AMERICAN RANKS.

It might not feel, in toto, the same sentiments, but its organization lacks the cohesion of the National and some of its magnates are disposed to sit on the fence anyhow when a controversy arises.

Johnson probably could count upon St. Louis, Boston and Cleveland to play his hand if a showdown arose. But when one holds the low cards, a show-down is not expedient. Johnson would have to have his entire league with him to make a fight and that isn't possible.

NATIONAL VOTE UNANIMOUS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4. — (AP)—Once again the National league has moved against the American in a baseball flurry that has Commissioner Landis as a center. The National has resolved that Landis shall be reappointed for ten years when his present seven-year term expires in 1927.

The resolution, accepted at the schedule meeting here yesterday, recommends that the matter come before the joint meeting of the leagues next December. Eight club presidents favored the move.

A year ago Landis and President Ban B. Johnson of the American league were at odds, but peace came and two months ago Johnson received an annual salary increase of $10,000.

Sunday night Landis and Johnson sat in the same banquet hall, guests of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

Johnson pleaded a previous engagement when invited to attend the National league dinner Wednesday night, the final episode in the circuit's golden jubilee celebration. So now the National has moved for a better understanding by voting the resolution for Landis' reappointment.

Basketball Secrets.

GUARDING ON SIDE-LINE.

Every basketball player should avoid the side-lines whenever it is possible. The reason is obvious. When near a side-line you have but one-half the usual space to maneuver in that you are accustomed to. Therefore, you are much more easily guarded.

In guarding a player near the side-lines, when his team has the ball, take your position directly in the court almost at right angles to him, as in the upper illustration. Then you can intercept all shots aimed at him and you can also cover him better if he breaks into the court. Do not place yourself along the side-line with him, even if you are between him and the ball, as shown in the lower illustration The reason is obvious. He can rush into the court ahead of you and also run away from you along the side-line.

Tin-Can Tied On Grid Star At Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Suspension of Harry R. (Pete) Jackson, star quarterback of the University of Missouri football team, as the result of an alleged liquor party at a boarding house attended by several co-eds, today has developed two versions of the affair.

Jackson denied that he made improper advances to one of the girls, as stated by Dr. Albert H. Heckel, dean of men.

In a statement at Joplin, Mo., where he is employed by a mining company, Jackson said he believed the girl would clear him if she were questioned, and declared that Dean Heckel's action in suspending him followed his refusal to give the names of the other men at the party.

Girl Made Complaint.

On the other hand, Dean Heckel, in announcing the result of his investigation, said that the girl herself was the complainant and that her charges had been found true.

Jackson believed that a boarding house landlady made the complaint, acting under the impression he had made unwelcome advances to the girl. She heard two girls, who had attended the party, shouting his name about the house, he said.

The football star said he remained at the party only ten minutes upon finding that it was unchaperoned and that liquor was being drunk. He took the girl home after they visited a restaurant, he said.

Three Others Suspended.

Dean Heckel said the girl told him she was out riding with Jackson and upon passing a house that was lighted, he proposed they go in.

While in there, Jackson attempted to assault her, the girl said. She fled to the automobile, followed by Jackson, who attempted to make amends to her. Her complaint followed.

The co-eds and a man student were suspended, with Jackson.

Charges by the dean that Jackson had cheated at examinations by bringing into the class room more than 100 pages of notes, were characterized as "ridiculous" by Jackson, who said that had he bothered to prepare such voluminous notes he would not have needed them for the examination.

WINNEBAGO, Neb., Feb. 4.—Winnebago and Bancroft are leading the East Central Nebraska high school basketball race with all-victorious records.

Bancroft is somewhat of a favorite in that the team has only one hard game to play—Lyons. Winnebago must meet Lyons and Oakland away from home. Winnebago and Bancroft do not meet in a conference contest.

Oakland and Winnebago girls are in a tie for first place, each with three wins and no defeats. Oakland seems to hold a slight advantage as the final game is to be played on the Oakland floor Feb. 19.

FAMOUS RUNNERS BIDS FOR DOUGH

Joie Ray Takes Cue From "Red" Grange; Ties Up With the "Pros."

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Joie Ray has chucked his Illinois A. C. running trunks in the locker to formally turn professional, after the collegiate fashion brought into vogue last November by Harold "Red" Grange. Styles come into being overnight.

"Now I am a professional," the middle distance veteran of the I. A. A. announced yestedday, and straightway proved it by introducing his manager, with flashlights booming.

Issues Statement.

Ray, according to the mode, last night issued a statement to the press. He expressed his sincere regret in terminating a 16-year amateur athletic career, during which he acquired a bevy of titles.

Further following in the steps of the Wheaton iceman, when he abandoned his "77" jersey to play pro football, Joie frankly admitted that running was the best thing he could do and that he intended to employ the ability to run up a bank account. He probably will.

Aims to Smash Record.

Having reigned virtually supreme among middle distance runners until Paavo Nurmi came to the United States, Ray last winter ran the fastest races of his career. He holds the world's record for the mile jointly with the Finn and thinks he can lower the 4 minutes and 12 seconds time.

Ray said he left amateurism because of the delinquent attitude taken by the central A. A. U. officials with regard to his desired reinstatement after punching the bag for a sporting foods store advertisement.

"Smoking It Up" For Lewis Match

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 4.—(I. N. S.)—Allen Eustace, the Kansas farmer tucked away another victory here last night on his way to a championship match with Ed "Strangler" Lewis. Joe "Toots" Mondt, the Colorado cowboy, was the victim. The first fall, gained by a series of headlocks, came in 44 minutes and 38 seconds and the second in 4 minutes and 34 seconds with a flying headlock.

John Evko of Chicago took two falls from Jim Clinckstock, Indian of Tulsa, Okla., in 19:50 and 4:35.

HELEN O. K. WITH CZARS OF TENNIS

American Girl May Write Without Endangering Amateur Status.

SUZANNE IN FINE FORM.

NICE, Feb. 4.—Mlle. Lenglen showed the best of her game today when she defeated Mrs. C. F. Aeschlimann, the former Miss Leslie Bancroft, 6-0, 6-0, in the Nice tournament. Suzanne played in flashing style.

BY FREDERICK K. ABBOTT.

NICE, France, Feb. 4.—(I. N. S.)—Helen Wills is not endangering her amateur status by the newspaper writing she is now doing, according to assurances she received today in a lengthy cablegram from President Mersereau of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

President Mersereau's cable stated that Miss Wills "has nothing to worry about," and wished her luck in her Riviera competitions. The odds in favor of Miss Wills and Mlle. Lenglen meeting in the Carlton tournament at Cannes next week were better.

Miss Wills announced today that she expects to enter the Carlton singles, as she has been assured that the grooved ball will not be used.

Suzanne May Be Spoofing.

Suzanne has stated she also intends to enter the singles. Just how much this statement means, no one can say.

The announcement that Suzanne intends to enter this tournament will bring crowds to Cannes and it will not be the fault of the hotel keepers if Suzanne changes her mind and decides not to play.

Sydney Beer, an English sportsman, has offered a 25,000 franc cup for the singles championship of the Carlton tournament as an extra inducement.

The designer of the Olympic tennis stadium at Colombes is now at Cannes reconstructing the stands about the Carlton courts in order to provide seating capacity for 17,000 people and standing room for 500 more. If this capacity is reached it will create a new record for Riviera tennis.

MONEY PHASE PARAMOUNT.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The French lawn tennis federation alone can and ought to arrange a match between Helen Wills, the American champion, and Suzanne Lenglen says L'Auto, France's leading sport journal today.

"That's the only way out of the present unsatisfactory state of affairs for which neither player is in any way responsible. It is the diversity of interests at stake—clubs and makers of balls—the inevitable case with two players of such financial drawing power which alone has delayed a meeting between them."

L'Auto declares it would be more moral to see the gate receipts of a Lenglen-Wills go to the club which would apply them in helping make good French men and women players rather than to the stockholders of commercial concerns.

FANCY GRID CARD AT LINCOLN HIGH

Game With Waite at Toledo, Ohio, Added to Red and Black Schedule.

Lincoln high school, state interscholastic champion in football last fall, is lining up for 1926 the most pretentious schedule in the history of the gridiron sport at the capital city institution.

Coach W. H. Browne today announced that he had scheduled the Red and Black to play Waite high at Toledo, O., Saturday, October 23. Waite high is a leader in interscholastic football, the Buckeye youths having won frequent titles in their own region and thereby qualifying for games on the Pacific coast.

Another intersectional game on the Lincoln slate is the contest dated for Thanksgiving day with Lane Tech of Chicago. This combat is to be staged at the Nebraska university stadium.

Columbus High Here.

In addition to Waite high, Coach Browne has scheduled Columbus to play Lincoln October 1, the game to be played at the local oval. Saturday, November 20, is the only remaining open date on the Lincoln schedule and Coach Browne indicated today that he would not make an effort to book a game for that day, as he wishes to have his proteges in prime physical condition for the important Turkey day clash with Lane Tech

The 1925 squad at Lincoln high will include an even dozen letter men. Regulars on the 1925 team listed to graduate next May are Witte, back; Tindall, tackle, and McCarthy and Rosenberg, ends.

In addition to the Waite high and Columbus games gives Lincoln the following schedule:

Oct. 1—Columbus at Lincoln.
Oct. 9—Hastings at Hastings.
Oct 16—Beatrice at Lincoln.
Oct. 23—Waite high at Toledo, O
Oct. 23—Grand Island at Grand Island.
Nov. 6—Omaha Tech at Lincoln.
Nov. 13—Norfolk at Norfolk.
Nov. 25—Lane Tech, Chicago, at Lincoln.

SCHULTE'S SQUAD TO MEET AT K. C.

Nebraska Coach Pilots Nine Of His Tracksters To Indoor Carnival.

Nine members of the University of Nebraska track squad, headed by Coach Henry F. Schulte, will pull away tonight for Kansas City, where the Cornhuskers tracksters will compete in the annual K. C. A. C. indoor meet Friday evening.

The nine members of the Nebraska squad making the trip are Jimmy Lewis, Havelock, and Glen Johnson, Stapleton, who will compete in the Shannon Douglas 600-yard run; Walter Kriemelmeyer, Cambridge, who will enter the 16-pound shot put; Perly Wyatt, Scottsbluff, dash man; Oliver Roberts, Owatonna, Minn., who will probably race in the 100-yard event; Jack Ross, Gibbon, and Jimmy Searle, Hawarden, Ia., milers; Bob Davenport, dash man, and Frank Wirsig, Sargent, pole vaulter

Three Regulars Missing.

Loevke, Weir and Heln are not included in the party. Locke and Weir have been slow in rounding into shape because of muscle bruises, while Heln has been delayed in training because of a busy week with law exams.

Coach Schulte is also not over anxious to send his men into competition on the boards in view of the fact that they have no other meets on the board tracks this winter.

College View High Swamps Waverly

College View high school basketflippers invaded Waverly Wednesday night and returned home with a 31 to 6 victory. millions are saying "tasting better than ever"

NOTHING is too good to top off a good luncheon. The fact that so many men order White Owls with the coffee may, therefore, be taken as a strong indication that true judges of cigar value are considering only the sweetness of taste and mellowness of tobacco from the finest crop in years — and forgetting the low price made possible by enormous production facilities.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink. Drink lots of soft water By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year—Advertisement.

GRAIN MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 4.

With trading the smallest in a long while, wheat today showed weakness from the start. A sharp break in foreign markets was the main depressing influence. Export demand was less active and domestic crop conditions were favorable, with some new wheat showing green in Kansas, according to official report.

Wheat closed heavy 1 ⅜ to 1⅞c net lower; cor ½c to ¾c off and oats ⅛c to ⅜c down.

WHEAT—Prices here underwent an early decline today, influenced by a setback in values at Liverpool and Buenos Aires. Better weather in Argentina counted as a bearish factor, and so, too, did lower exchange rates to Argentina. Besides, English flour millers were reported as buying on only a hand to mouth basis, with some mills in Great Britain closing down for the present. Chicago opening prices 1-2 to 1½c lower, May (new) $1.76 to 1.76¾ and July $1.54¼ to 1.54⅝, were followed by a moderate further down turn.

CORN AND OATS—Eased down with wheat. After opening at ¼ to ⅝c decline, May 83⅜c to 83⅞c, the corn market continued to sag. Oats started unchanged to ¼c off, May 44c to 44⅛. Later, all months showed some loss.

PROVISIONS—Lacked support.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.

Marking up of the call money rate to 5½ per cent as a result of the heavy calling of loans by out of town banks, started a selling movement in today's stock market which temporarily checked the upward movement of prices. Baldwin, American Smelting, Consolidated Gas, Canadian Pacific and several other popular rails and industrials were carried 1 to 2 points below yesterday's final quotations on this reaction, but offerings were readily absorbed and the market was headed upward again in the early afternoon. Buoyancy of the high priced specialties was one of the features, Nash motors soaring 55 points to 840, a new high record and a gain of nearly 110 points in two days. United Fruit jumped 29½ points to 259½, also a new high record, while Sloss Sheffield, American Can, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Dupont and Woolworth sold 3 to 4½ points higher. Oils continued to resond to stiffening commodity prices and merger reports, associated and Pacific both breaking into new high ground. Local tractions were again heavily accumulated, Interborough Rapid Transit and Third Avenue showing extreme gains of 5½ and 3 points, respectively. Heavy short covering was again apparent in the motors.

Heavy buying of the oil shares featured the initial upward movement of stock prices today. Merger negotiations, favorable dividend developments and advancing prices for crude and refined products, promoted a broad demand for these issues, which embraced Pacific Oil, California Petroleum, Sinclair and the Standard Oils of New Jersey and California. Nash Motors soared sixteen points at the opening to a record high price of 801.

With high priced stocks continuing to lead the way, inquiries broadened for low priced industrials and specialties, particularly the local traction, copper and oil shares. Speculative interest in the food issues was heightened by the imminence of further consolidations in this field, with California Packing and Postum Cereal both rising about two points in anticipation of an early merger. Standard Milling, American sugar, United Fruit, and other good shares also were in demand, rallying 1 to 2½ points. Poulson, with a three point gain, led a forward movement in the motors based on reports of surprisingly good January business. General Motors and Mack Trucks followed close behind, while Nash Motors broke away with a sensational jump of 55 points to a new peak at 840, on a few sales. Coppers followed the leadership of Utah. Foreign exchanges were steady, with demand sterling opening slightly higher at 4.86 3-16.

The closing was strong.

Approximate sales 1,900,000 shares.

SEEK MISSING MOVIE ACTOR

Planes Chartered To Search For Reginald Denny, On a Fishing Trip.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Universal Film Co. has chartered two airplanes to leave at dawn today in search of Reginald Denny, film actor, and two other men who left San Diego yesterday in the thirty-four-foot yawl, Barbarine, for a fishing trip to Ensemada, Lower California.

No word has been received from the craft, which was equipped with wireless, and officials of the film company think the actor and his two companions, Ben Hendricks and Hub Lloyd, might have met disaster in the storm that has been sweeping the southern California coast for the past several days.

A fourth man was reported by a fisherman to be adrift without food or water on a barge off Point Dume, twenty miles north of Santa Monica.

DR. J. T. LEES, EDUCATOR HERE 35 YEARS, DEAD

Dr. Lee's attention. He was high in Masonry, a prominent lecturer on are subjects, and for a number of years conducted parties of tourists through Europe.

Besides his wife, Dr. Lees is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Guy Chamberlain, Decatur, Ill., and a son, Dr. Thomas M. Lees of Cleveland, Ohio. Word of definite funeral arrangements has not yet been received in Lincoln.

Dr. Lees was born at Middleton, Lancashire, England, August 17, 1839, and came to the United States in 1870. He received his A. B. degree from Adelbert college, Cleveland, O., in 1886, and A. M. in 1889. In the same year he took his Ph. D. degree at Johns Hopkins.

On December 26, 1889, Dr. Lees married Anna Belle Murray of Elmwood, Ill., and came to the University of Nebraska in 1891 as principal of the Latin school and associate professor of classical philology.

"I first met Dr. Lees," Chancellor Avery recalled Thursday morning, "in the fall of 1890. He was then associate professor of Greek and principal of the Latin school, the old preparatory department. A little later, on the retirement of Professor MacMillan, he became professor of Greek and served as a teacher of that language during his entire connection with the university. He was also profoundly interested in Sanskrit and other ancient languages.

Rendered Efficient Service.

"It is unusual for one so devoted to learning to possess so active an interest in general university matters and in civic affairs. During Chancellor MacLean's administration his activity in committee work led to his appointment as examining dean. While holding this office he rendered efficient service in bringing orderly conditions into the university, especially in regard to admission, advanced standing and courses of study.

"Comparatively recently he was made provost. In creating this office for him, the university administration did not minutely define his duties. Much was left to be developed under his leadership. His first work was to assist in simplifying the university's organization, to eliminate duplicate courses, and to reduce the size of the catalog. He also served as acting director of athletics during the interregnum between Mr. Stewart and Mr. Luehring. Ill health prevented him from developing the office of provost more fully."

In Lincoln Dr. Lees became a member of the Scottish Rite of Masonry, rose to the Thirty-third degree in 1913. He gave lectures and orations on Masonic subjects frequently, and once served as commander in the council. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

To Dr. R. H. Wolcott, Dr. Lees once told the story of how he came to conduct his famous European tours. At the time of Chancellor Canfield's

One-Hit Pitcher Back to Minors

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—(A. P.)—Percy Lee Jones, southpaw pitcher who has been on and off the Cubs' roster for the past five years, is going to the Louisville Colonels in part payment for Shortstop Maurice Shannon.

Several other Cubs are due to go south before the Shannon account will be squared.

Jones' principal achievement during his intermittent connection with the Cubs' payroll was his one-hit game of last year.

Price Succeeds 'Andy' Smith As Berkeley Coach

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The University of California football machine, which recently lost through death its most famous coach, Andy Smith, today had a new gridiron field marshal—Clarence M. ("Nebs") Price, who has been assistant coach since 1920.

The new coach was selected last night by the associated students executive committee.

Price was given a three-year contract at an annual salary of $9,000. He also will serve as head basketball coach.

Price was graduated from the University of California with the class of 1914. While in college he received his letter in baseball. Although Price was a member of the varsity squad, his size kept him from making his football letter.

Foreign Champs In Millrose Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(I. N. S.)—Four foreign champions will test their skill against American competition tonight when Charley Hoff, Norwegian all-around star; Huber Houben, German sprinter; Gordon Goodwin, British walker, and Adrian Paulen, Holland runner, will go to the barrier in the annual Millrose games at Madison square Garden. Only one was expected to win, Hoff being conceded the pole vault, in which he holds the world's record of 13 feet 11 13-16 inches.

"Lincoln Field" is the name of the racing and jockey club now under construction on the southern outskirts of Chicago. On the 700-acre tract there will be a track of modern construction and a grandstand equipped with dining rooms, lounges and promenades; stables that will accommodate 1,400 horses and additional stables for polo ponies; a clubhouse for jockeys; an 18-hole golf course and parking space for 15,000 automobiles.

Negotiations For Great Oil Merger About Completed

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Negotiations were practically completed here last night for a merger of the Associated Oil Co. with other western oil properties, whose identity was not revealed. Blair & Co., bankers, who are engineering the combination, said that a statement probably would be given out in the next twenty hours. Wall street learned officially that Associated and Pan-American-Western Petroleum would form the nucleus of the new combination.

Control of Associated oil has been sought by several banking and oil interests since the merger in December of the Pacific Oil Co. with the Standard Oil Co. of California. Pacific Oil, which has had a controlling interest in Associated Oil for years, announced that it would distribute to its own stockholders its holdings of Associated Oil stock, which could not go into the Standard Oil of California for legal reasons.

When this became known large stockholders of Pacific were approached with offers for the purchase of their Associated Oil holdings. The offer of Blair & Co., is reported to have been the most acceptable, and it was reported last night that an agreement along the lines proposed would be signed within twenty-four hours.

As a result of its merger with the Standard Oil Co., of California, Pacific Oil stockholders will receive two shares of Associated Stock for each five shares of Pacific held and at least $3 in cash and share for share in the new Standard Oilsof California.

Wood said the bill would provide a penalty of three to ten years upon conviction.

11,317 Bills In Congress So Far

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The difficulties congress encountered in trying to keep its head above the flood of proposals by its 531 members is strikingly illustrated by the cold statistics of what has been accomplished in the two months of the present session.

Since opening day, December 7, exactly 11,317 bills have been introduced and just three have passed through all of the stages necessary before they become the law of the land. They are measures authorizing construction of bridges across navigable streams.

The only piece of legislation of importance to reach President Coolidge is the joint resolution appropriating $50,000 to defray the expenses of American participation in the preliminary disarmament conference at Geneva.

The senate has spent most of its time considering the resolution of adherence of the United States to the World court which was adopted last week. The tax bill will soon be passed and with these two big issues out of the way the machinery will be speeded up.

The house has been going ahead much faster, but with new proposals coming in every day congress can never hope to even consider a third of them. The great bulk will be kicked around committee rooms, only to find a final resting place in the waste paper baskets after this congress expires.

CONGRESS TAKES UP STRIKE ISSUE

Several Moves For Government Intervention Fail to Carry, However.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—New moves for government intervention in the anthracite suspension were launched Wednesday in both the senate and house, but neither got anywhere.

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, offered a resolution requesting President Coolidge to invite the committee of anthracite miners and operators, who broke up their conference Tuesday to meet at the white house.

Immediate consideration of this resolution was blocked by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, who said if there was a remedy for the coal strike situation, congress should supply it and "not pass the buck to the president."

In the house, Representative Boyle, democrat, New York, circulated a petition under which the interstate commerce committee would be discharged from consideration of this bill to authorize the government to seize anthracite mines during an emergency.

In pressing his resolution, Senator Copeland asserted it was "zero weather in New England, but there is plenty of coal in the white house."

Says Coolidge Comfortable.

Declaring that "the president does not need to be uncomfortable," Senator Copeland said that he found an appropriation of $8,000 for "the coal and other solids in the white house" for the last year.

"I do not know what is meant by 'other solids,'" he said. "I would not think any ice was needed there."

"Did the senator see any items there for liquids?" inquired Senator Bruce, democrat, of Maryland.

"I did not see anything about liquids," returned Senator Copeland, "but, of course, we can all understand that the president would be very hesitant about having that in the record."

Simultaneous with this debate, the treasury sent to the senate the 1924 federal tax returns of the 159 coal companies operating in the anthracite fields, in response to a resolution by Senator LaFollette, republican, of Wisconsin. These 159 returns included the consolidated returns of the twenty-seven larger coal companies affiliated with railroads and other corporations. The amounts of tax paid by these corporations was not revealed in the treasury department.

How He Helps His Fellow Men

"I want to tell you how much I do love Peterson's Ointment for the good it has done me. My sore was on my left leg, was 4½ inches by 2 1-4 inches wide—is all healed up beautifully now and then too it was so soothing on such a raw sore. I can't say enough praise for the good it has done me and will say a good word in your salve's favor." Very truly yours, Miss Kate Kull, Sigel, Ill.

"I'd rather get a letter like that," says Peterson of Buffalo, "than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow men.

"For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 60 cents. The haling power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered."

It stops chafing in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful.

The mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment quickly clears the skin of all rashes, pimples and blemishes. Peterson Ointment Co., Buffalo, N. Y. —Advertisement.
